OLE MISS

For
years the Lyceum has watched generations of students
mature educationally and socially. Each of us, similar to the approximately 117,000 Ole Miss students before us, will leave a part of the essence of our generation in the mortar which composes the columns of the Lyceum. These seemingly ageless columns contain a part of our lives, providing the foundation for one of our nation's classic landmarks — a landmark which is not only a building but is also a monument to the aspirations and happenings of the people exemplified in the 1978 OLE MISS.

Ole Miss has always offered its students the opportunity to build a solid foundation for themselves by exposing them to the many aspects of a competitive, extraordinary world. In four years a student has a chance to fulfill campus ambitions comparable to those in an advancing world civilization. He has the advantage of being introduced to culture, love, leadership, excitement, and disappointment. During the year 1977-78 the University of Mississippi was in essence a little comic-strip community composed of students each with dreams of learning and experiencing everything that life had to offer.

I want everything, everything.*

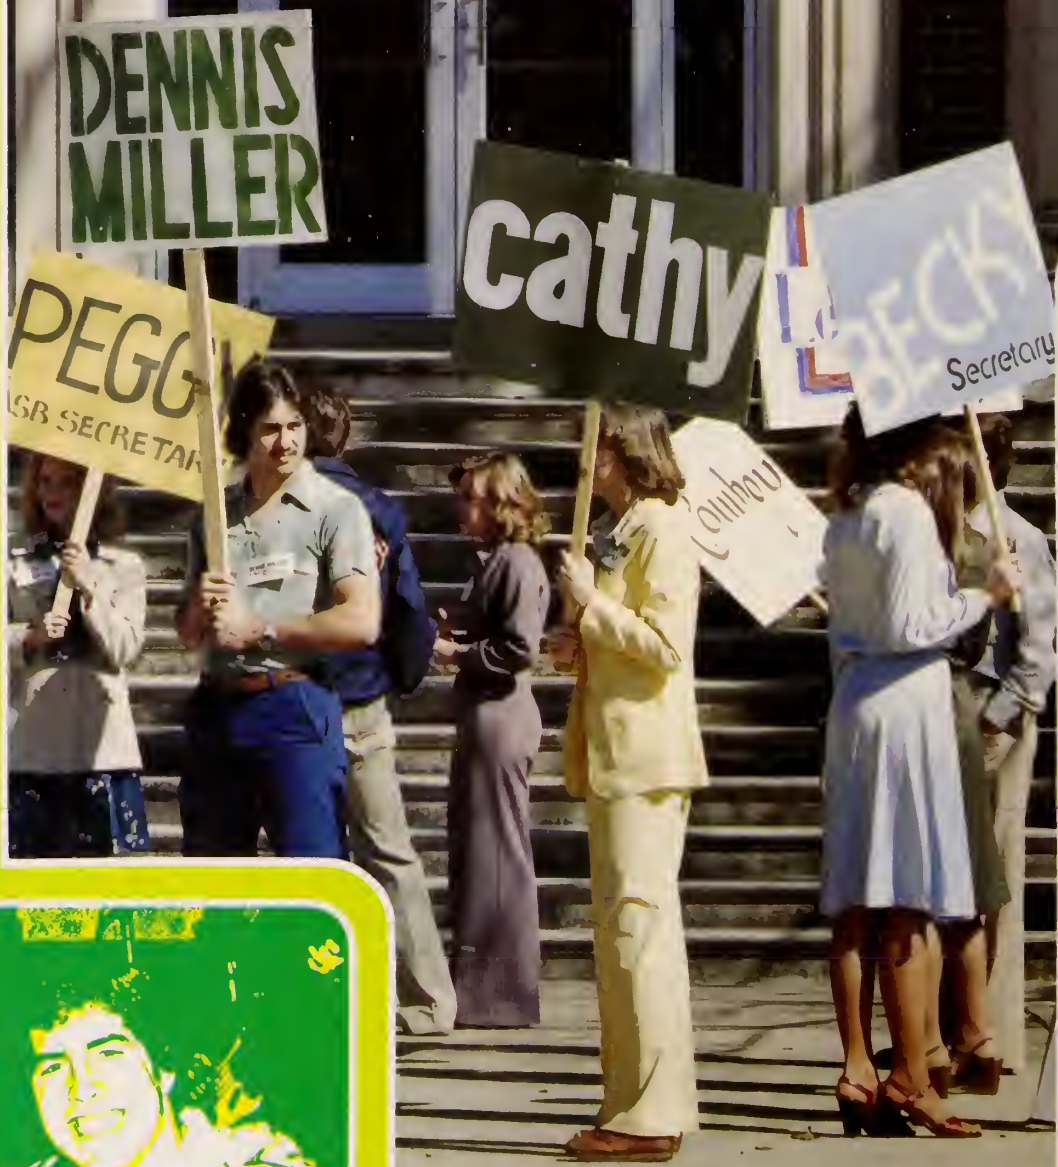

*I'd cure the cold and the traffic jam.
If there were floods, I'd build a dam.*

*I'd never sleep; I'd only sing
Let me do everything, everything.*

*I'd like to plan a city, play the cello,
Play at Monte Carlo, play O'thello,
Move into the White House, paint it yellow,
Speak Portuguese and Dutch. And if it's not too much,*

*I'd like to have the perfect twin—
One who'd go out as I came in.
I've got to grab the big brass ring
So I'll have everything.*

I'm like a child who's set free at the fun fair.
Every ride invites me, and it's unfair.
Saying that I only get my one share
Doesn't seem just. I could live as I must

TRIPLE  RANCH

*Give me the time to turn the tide,
Give me the truth if once I lied,
Give me the one who's gonna bring*

*More of everything.
Then I'll have everything,*

Everything.

Dedication

Chancellor Porter L. Fortune, Jr.

As the University of Mississippi concludes its one-hundred fortieth year of distinction, we dedicate with quiet pride the 1978 OLE MISS to Chancellor Porter L. Fortune, Jr. Throughout his tenure as Chancellor, he has unfailingly aspired to and achieved excellence as an educator and as an administrator.

Even more importantly, he has by the life he lives inspired thousands of University students with his strength of character and depth of understanding. His patience, dignity, and efficiency will continue to permeate the University of Mississippi long, long after his tenure is completed.

A Classic

Even in the late 1970's, a solid foundation of Southern ideas still exists . . .

Ole Miss has long been a symbol of Southern heritage. Since its ante-bellum founding, the University has seen war and racial turmoil. But in reality, Ole Miss has stuck to the ideals of the Southern mind. The nickname Ole Miss was derived from the name of the yearbook of the University of Mississippi, first published in 1897. Elma Meek, for whom Meek Hall is named, suggested that the yearbook be called the OLE MISS. Regardless of its derivation, the nickname represents not only the affection held for the University by its students, alumni, and faculty, but also carries the essence of Southern history. The Corinthian columns on the Lyceum, the Confederate soldier and the oaks that shade the Grove are all tangible contributions left to us by our Southern forefathers.

The "new" student union, the foreign students, and the astroturf on the football field are examples of the expansion of the heritage of Ole Miss.

Although Ole Miss has taken new forms since 1848, the world still thinks of Ole Miss as the Southern school, the center of Southern learning, and the home of Southern Belles. In these traditions we continue our true Southern heritage.

. . . and is inherited from generation to generation.

Our parents, possibly more than any other factor in our lives, continue to influence us. Although their financial contributions to us are vital (and students could always use more), the unending love and understanding of our parents afford us necessary stability and fulfillment.

Mississippi is characteristic of the deep South in that everyone seems to know everyone else. The parents of our classmates, we learn frequently, were college friends of our parents. In fact, "Oh, I know his parents," is spoken quite often by parents of Ole Miss students.

In preparing for the future, students from Ole Miss families may sometimes attend classes in buildings in which their parents also studied, sit in offices which might have served as their fathers' dormitory room, eat in the same Grove where their parents picnicked, or walk on the same sidewalks that wore the soles of their parents' penny loafers, spike heels, wing tops, and saddle oxfords.

As we complete our education, we develop a deep respect for those who have attended the University before us. We can identify with the experiences recounted to us by Ole Miss alumni — experiences such as meeting a future wife or husband in the Old Bookstore, in the library stacks, or on the steps of the Old Grill; tales of the unorthodox behavior of the residents in "Bloody Labauve"; antics like lowering cadavers out the windows of the old medical school in Guyton Hall; traditions such as shaving freshmen's heads and having pep rallies in the Peabody Hotel in Memphis; events like electing a May Queen or Rebele Queen; and spending time in going to class on Saturday, shooting craps in the dorm, eating on campus at Greeks, and partying at the Peabody Skyway.

It is indeed easy for those students who are Ole Miss legacies to fill that true sense of belonging to the changing permanency of the University of Mississippi.

Football, more than anything else, has made the words Ole Miss famous throughout the world. It is a tradition that links us to our heritage and glorious past. The excitement of the Red and Blue running onto the field, with Dixie in the air, and Rebel flags in the sky, has been sending chill bumps down the spines of Mississippians for almost a century. The big games with Maryland, LSU, and Tennessee are heritage. The 1977 Rebels added another page with a victory over Notre Dame.

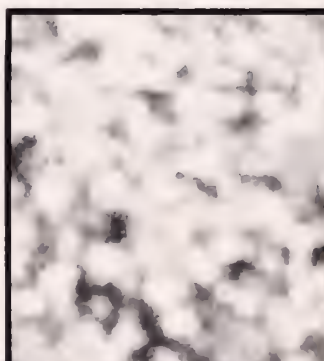

Our Rebels may not be National Champions, but the excitement of Ole Miss football never fades away.

Loyalty for the Rebels is maintained at Ole Miss . . .

Voting and/or campaigning is an integral part of the University of Mississippi campus — a campus renowned as a political training ground where future senators, representatives, and governors sit next to each other in class.

According to an Ole Miss alumnus, Mississippi politics originated and is perpetuated at the University. In that statement he means that the student leaders who surface during their undergraduate and graduate years at Ole Miss will likely be running the state government in their next twenty-five years.

The campus comes alive when the Associated Student Body Code calls for an election. Campaign literature in the form of 3 x 5 cards appear pinned on clothes as posters are tacked to bulletin boards.

. . . in a setting not unlike the outside world.

However, the 1977 spring ASB elections were relatively quiet, probably because of the lack of interest in the president's race. Before Christmas, the bout over that top position indicated excitement. Subsequently, however, one candidate decided to switch from the president's race to that of editor of the OLE MISS, relieving the pressure theretofore evident in the presidential contest. Later, another candidate, who was not taken seriously, surfaced to make the president's race opposed.

The selection of ASB vice-president was the most intriguing in that for the first time in two years the race for that office was opposed. In fact, three students (one male and two female) sought the position. In the contest, the apparent frontrunner lost in a run-off. The secretary's race, which many predicted to be close, was indeed that. Again, the favored candidate lost — this time by 100 votes.

The elections for ASB treasurer, editor of the DAILY MISSISSIPPIAN, and editor of the OLE MISS were unopposed either because the candidates were too well qualified to attract competition or because no one else was interested in seeking those positions. Actually, the race for ASB treasurer was contested in that, on the day of the election, a group of not-too-serious students sponsored a well-known accounting professor in a write-in campaign.

A new dimension was added to the ASB elections of 1977 when a politically-timed vacancy occurred in the ASB Judicial Council Chairman's office. Here was the third instance of the loss of a predicted winner.

The fall brought Campus Senate elections with the ever-present law school slate. Unlike the year before, no fraternity undergraduate slate was presented, and the election of fifty-one senators was comparatively quiet.

Soon after the fall senate elections, rumors concerning the Homecoming Queen election began. A darkhorse candidate, associated with Army ROTC as well as her sorority, was crowned Homecoming Queen. She defeated another junior who had previously been a Campus Favorite and was serving her second year as a varsity cheerleader. But the winner was forced into a run-off with a senior who had been Greek Goddess and had served on the 1976 Homecoming Court.

In November there was another opportunity for sorority block-voting and "joke" write-ins as the election for Miss Ole Miss took place. Before the race began, there was uncertainty as to who would actually oppose the cheerleader candidate who eventually won the honor. Again, the Army ROTC decided to play politics but in this instance supported an unsuccessful candidate.

In the Colonel Rebel contest, held simultaneously with that of Miss Ole Miss, tradition was back as two football players vied for the semi-equivalent of Mr. Ole Miss. The campus overwhelmingly voted for a defensive-end sponsored by the M Club instead of a quarterback sponsored by Vaught Hall. Of course, ten Campus Favorites were chosen along with Colonel Rebel and Miss Ole Miss.

As is customary, rumors and innuendos concerning the upcoming 1978 ASB spring elections were circulated as early as October of 1977. Actually, the rumors never cease because politics is in the heart of Ole Miss and in the blood of its students.

By continuing Ole Miss traditions . . .

Ole Miss is nationally known as a university which stresses academics, athletics, and parties. The results of academic and athletic ventures many times produce the need for a party (that is, to celebrate a good grade or a victory — or to relieve misery produced by missed questions or missed touchdowns).

Therefore, regardless of the progress made in the academic or athletic areas, the partying tradition of the Ole Miss campus will never die. From the Welcome Back Rebels parties to those of the Fall Festival, Dixie Week, and Red and Blue, there is always a party somewhere.

Usually, the image of Ole Miss as a party school is firmly implanted in the mind of a high school student when he or she first attends a fraternity Rush or football-weekend party. Then, if that student does indeed enroll at the University, he sees that most fraternities have yearly parties that have become as traditional as Homecoming — ATO Super Formal or Hat Party, Deke World War III Party, Kappa Alpha Old South, Kappa Sig South Seas, Phi Delta Ivy League, Phi Tau Wild West, Pike Shrimp and Beer, SAE Patty Murphy, Sigma Chi Derby Day, and Sigma Nu Roaring 20's.

The town of Oxford boasts many business establishments which offer the opportunity for merriment. The Gin, the Deli, Oliver's, and the Warehouse are usually packed on Wednesday and Thursday nights. Nearby Sardis Reservoir is a popular spot for an afternoon beer bust or a quiet liquid picnic. Of course, it is only 80 miles to Memphis and Overton Square, while students will even drive to Cleveland, Mississippi, to go to Sharpe Street Station. "Off-campus" activities also include parties sponsored by the Cavaliers and the Yuletide Revelers as well as by various debutante societies (including those based in Greenwood, Jackson, Greenville, and Memphis.)

Many think that an increased emphasis on academics in recent years would drive students away from parties and into the library; however, there are always those who prefer a "major in Memphis" and a "minor in Sardis" to the drudgery of books.

Regardless, at the "Party School of the South" or the "Country Club of Mississippi," a person can always find a social function somewhere at any time.

When contemplating our first year at the University, we imagined what would occur and how we would be affected. For many incoming freshmen and transfer students, Sorority or Fraternity Rush is one of the events which can definitely produce anxiety. In fact, except for pre-college, Rush is the first official activity for some new Ole Miss students.

More women went out for Formal 1977 Fall Sorority Rush than ever causing the pledge class quota to be 58, while 593 men participated in Formal Fall Fraternity Rush — the largest number since 1966.

Although slightly less than 50 per cent of the student body is a member of a sorority or fraternity, Greek life permeates every aspect of the University. Greeks consistently compose the majority of leadership on campus.

Through being a Greek, a student has the duty of perpetuating his organization's beliefs and objectives by putting Greek letters on his jacket or car, by being active in Rush, and by teaching pledges what he has learned about life. Only a Greek knows what it means to have a little brother or sister who is not blood-wise related to him. (It is possible to have both a Greek little brother and a little sister if your fraternity has a little sister program or if you are a member of both a sorority organization and a fraternity little sister program.) Having a little brother or sister is especially meaningful to you if you are an only child or if your parents have progeny of only one sex.

Togetherness and loyalty are important aspects of Greek life. A fraternity sitting together at a football game, brothers and sisters unitedly working for one of their own kind in an election, a group talking and dressing alike, and pledges studying together in study hall are all examples of brotherly and sisterly elements.

To see a brother or sister do well in an election, pageant, or other contest; to watch your pledge class beat another in a football game; to compete for your organization in Greek Week or Dixie Week; to become close to your housemother, or to do well in Rush are fulfilling experiences. Likewise, when your group faces disappointment it is helpful to have others with whom to share the tragedy.

Whenever a group of people is together constantly, it is only natural for expressions and fads to make a sweep through the House: "What ya know good 'sides me?" — "You big mule, you!" — "Good luck!" — "You animal!" are some of the little sayings started by a few that can quickly catch on in a large group. Also, clothing trends easily spread through particular organizations.

Naturally, being a Greek brings with it certain antics, such as pledges kidnapping actives and actives kidnapping pledges, having unusual parties, stealing picture composites belonging to other organizations, and dragging a newly "pinned" brother semi-clad into his pinnee's sorority house.

The opportunities for inter-Greek activities are tremendous at Ole Miss. Through the Interfraternity Council (formed by twenty fraternities) and Panhellenic Council (composed of thirteen member sororities), fraternities and sororities work together on projects and mutual problems. Under the direction of the Intramural Council, Greeks can compete with each other for athletic trophies.

An addition made to the Greek system in the spring of 1976 was the revival of the Order of Omega (a nationally-based interfraternity honorary which had been established on the campus in September of 1968 but had since folded). Since its resurrection, the Order of Omega (more affectionately known as "Tri-O") has increased its activity and brought about interest at Ole Miss in establishing an equivalent organization for sorority women.

Inter-Greek activities also include swaps (parties in which two entire Greek organizations get together for a combined social function to which only members of those organizations may come). Even though the word swap might imply an exchange of cost for the party, fraternities having swaps with sororities usually get stuck with the entire bill.

The leaders of Ole Miss have traditionally been Greeks, and they have worked to improve Ole Miss while promoting their own organizations. Some people say that fraternity and sorority competition brings out the worst in an individual; however, competition is a way of life. Nevertheless, the brotherly and sisterly ties of Greek life have continually vitalized the University since the founding of the first fraternity on campus in 1850.

A visitor from Mississippi State once remarked that Ole Miss is the only school she had seen where the girls deck out to go to classes, then go grubby to fraternity parties.

It's true. During an average class day there is a noticeable difference between the way Ole Miss students dress and the way students at other schools dress. Moreover, most believe that Ole Miss sets the fashion trends for the state (while causing a national laundry starch shortage). Each year merchants in neighboring towns ask what University students are wearing. In 1977-78 the traditional classic look prevailed with khakis, wallabees, topsiders, Izod sweaters, blue blazers, club ties, 100% cotton shirts, and button-down collars. Though traditional Levis with slightly turned-up cuffs made a come-back this year, denim in general was fading.

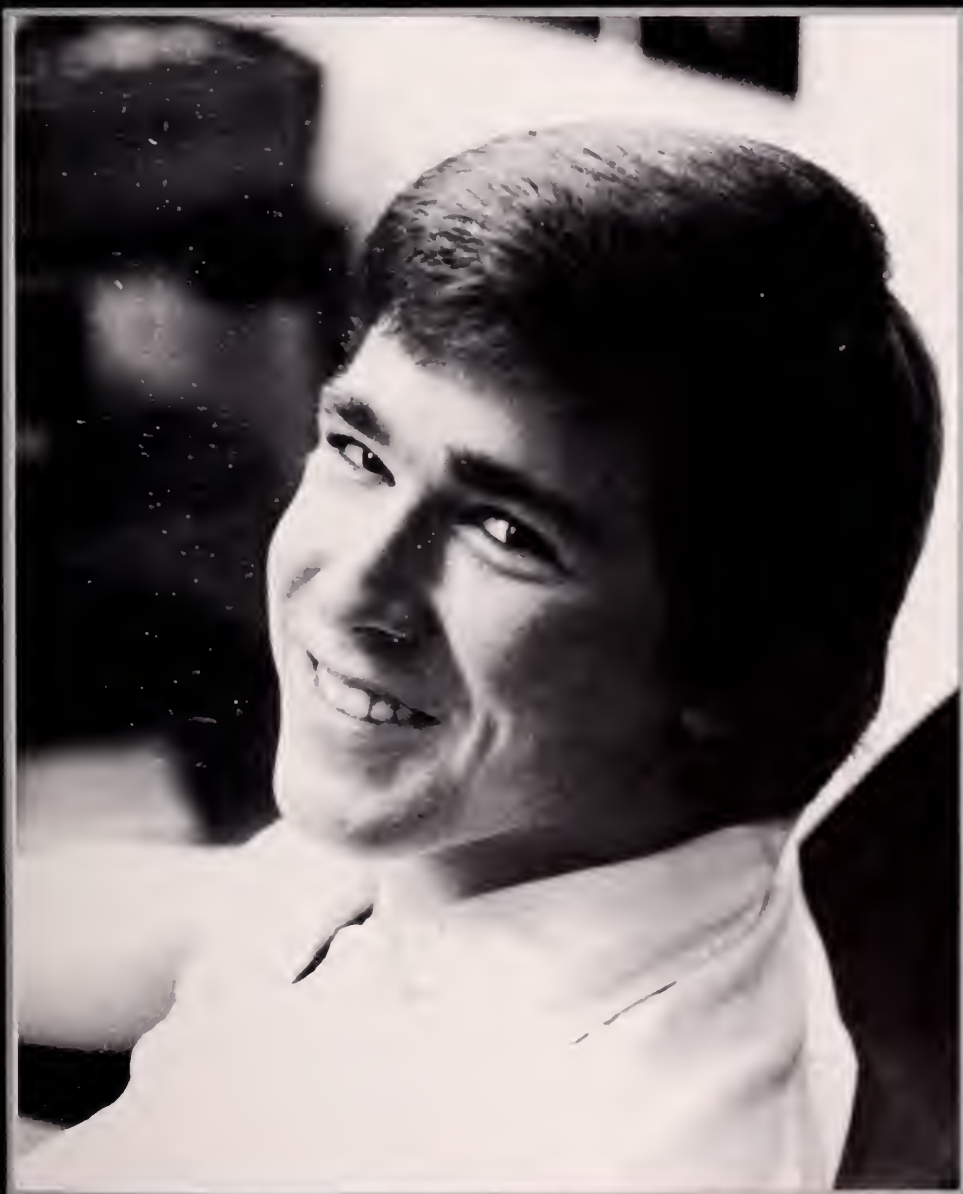

Girls began to look like girls again. Skirts, longer hair, and ruffles were big this year, as were high heels, stick pins, and soft challis. And for guys — hair was shorter, clothes were less casual, and the beer belly was definitely out. Rugby shirts, sweaters wrapped around the waist or shoulders, white socks, and penny loafers were as much a part of the unisex trend as turned-up sleeves and painters pants. Of course, there were still those girls who wore army fatigues and boys who wore pink shirts.

The formation of a student modeling squad at the beginning of the fall elicited tremendous response from coeds while "Palestine Lives" tee-shirts also made their appearance on campus. Of course, Thursdays continued to boast ROTC uniforms. The student interest in clothes was demonstrated by the fact that "Vogue" sold out in the Bookstore faster than "Sports Illustrated" and that the busiest days in Oxford's clothing stores were the Fridays before home football games.

In general, Ole Miss students of 1977-78 cared about what they wore.

University life sometimes seems programmed . . .

The semester does not have to be many days in progress before life settles into a pattern. Actions become routine and predictable, if not automatic. The same teachers. The same food. (Wherever you usually eat, it all begins to taste alike.) A person can even tell if he is running on schedule by the faces he is accustomed to passing at the same point each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday or Tuesday and Thursday.

One activity or another gets assigned to each day. Thursday is laundry day. Wednesday is chapter meeting night. Friday is date night. Sunday and Monday are for recuperation and study.

Change comes slowly, subtly. Students adapt. The walk to the Union is longer, and although a few faithful still "hang out" on the steps, it isn't possible to "catch someone around the grill" anymore — he must be paged.

The MISSISSIPPIAN grew in page size this year, making it harder to read in class without getting caught by the teacher; and older students are just now getting used to having to use a key to unlock their mailboxes.

A change in the daily routine for the car-owner student has been the fact that the finer campus (the Grove and Loop areas) is closed to student traffic between 7:30 A.M. and 4:30 P.M.

But, with whatever the Lyceum decides to implement or innovate, a person can always adapt his daily routine (although sometimes quite stubbornly).

. . . but, nevertheless,
includes many opportunities . . .

When an Ole Miss freshman says that he wants to get involved, he does not mean that he wants to start dating but is implying that he is anxious to start the hike through endless campus committees toward the Hall of Fame.

Ambitious freshmen through the years have found that upperclassmen have looked upon them as "stars on the horizon," who eventually could be trained to assume positions of authority in campus organizations. A clear majority of those ambitious freshmen came to Ole Miss, knowing that the University offers an excellent opportunity for involvement in various activities.

Helping a younger student to become active in student leadership gives an upperclassman great satisfaction because he can achieve vicariously through the achievements of the underclassman.

By the time an upperclassman has completed his university career, he feels that he has acquired strategic concepts, such as informally campaigning in the library months before the election; being on the right committees; supporting the proper candidates; being nice to the right people; taking super-stress vitamins; and budgeting the seconds between meetings to have enough time to check his mailbox, read that letter from home, and study enough to keep the high GPA associated with a leader.

Being involved in student activities isn't limited to student government. Through athletics, the theater, cheerleading, religion, the Greek system, ROTC, the band and dorm functions, it is readily possible at Ole Miss to exercise the qualities of a leader.

Games in the Grove seem to be a continual form of recreation.

Of course, dating is a common relaxation while poolside girl-watching during the summer is an interesting pastime.

. . . and recreational outlets.

Eating and drinking is a natural Ole Miss activity, and roller skating is a method of working off the calories absorbed from that consumption.

Roller skating has made a comeback from the 50's and early 60's as a way to kill time. However, weekend trips to out-of-town football games have never lost their popularity.

Living with someone, whether in an apartment or a small dorm room, provides a unique opportunity to get to know another person, for friendships to grow, and for learning about tolerance and patience. It is your roommate who observes you throughout the semester — the all night study stands; the making, breaking, and general juggling of dates; and the condition of your face without make-up. Roommates share things — the food in the refrigerator, the phone bill, the clothes in their closets, and maybe even a cold or two over the course of the semester.

A roommate often serves as a comforter and conversationalist. Sometimes he or she doubles as an answering service and a valet.

It is difficult to define the word roommate. A roommate is someone to gripe to, to gripe with, and occasionally to gripe about. A roommate is someone to run to in times of need and to run home to get away from. Unfortunately, a roommate is sometimes the person who was your best friend at the beginning of the semester.

But one thing is certain. After living with someone, you may not have found him a life long friend; but at least you have found a life long memory.

Learning to cooperate brings maturity . . .

. . . as do the realities of financial responsibility.

Education costs.

Tuition, books, entertainment, transportation, room and board, and clothes are often more expensive than parents think. But it doesn't take long for a student to realize what a large chunk the "necessities" take out of a budget. Perhaps learning how to manage money is the biggest lesson to comprehend in college, and this lesson seems harder to learn during time of inflation.

During 1977-78, the biggest single increase in the cost of an education at Ole Miss was dormitory rent. A $20 hike in the cost of a dorm room greeted on-campus students when they registered for the fall semester. Although in-state tuition did not increase again (it went up $50 at the beginning of the fall of 1976) out-of-state students paid an additional $25 and will continue to do so until 1981 when out-of-state tuition reaches $850. Even with the increase, out-of-state tuition will still be considerably lower than the amount charged by neighboring states for a college education. For example, one of the reasons so many students from Memphis attend Ole Miss is that it is cheaper to go to school in Mississippi than in Tennessee.

Books are another big expense. The $50 allotted in the undergraduate catalogue for books and supplies is a net amount, being realistic only if a student is willing to buy used books and then re-sell them all at the end of a semester. Fifty dollars is, indeed, an extremely conservative estimate. Most undergraduate students spend one and a half to two times that, and graduate and law students spend even more.

Buying clothes (especially if a person wants to be a "dresser") can also put a strain on daddy's credit cards.

Sleeping, buying books, and wearing clothes are basic needs of a university student — so is eating. Restaurant eating is expensive, and eating out of an ASB refrigerator gets depressing. The Ole Miss Meal Plan (an offer you can't refuse) is good for students who have to get a lot of mileage out of a little money. The best buy is the fifteen-meal-a-week option, which costs $305 a semester, or about $1.35 a meal. But even to the most impervious taste buds, the repetitious menu gets old. Most fraternities serve fourteen meals a week for an average of $85 a month or about $1.80 a meal. Sororities are slightly more expensive. And even Greek students on these plans have to resort to eating in town or out of a refrigerator on the week-ends. Also students who live in apartments do not take advantage of their cooking facilities in that they usually eat their meals elsewhere.

Speaking of week-ends, entertainment and dating are big items in a student's budget. The expense of movies and pizzas has effected a change in the social life of most of the student body. You can't even go for a Coke at Shop-Rite for less than 30¢.

Transportation, whether it involves keeping a car at school or just sharing rides home for the week-end, takes another chunk out of a student's budget.

Clearly, college life can help students learn the responsibilities of managing personal finances. They know as well as anyone else what the end-of-the-month crunch is like — for many it is TV dates and subsisting for six days on peanut butter and jelly.

Innovations affect not only the campus . . .

These days, it takes much to shake up an Ole Miss student. The powers that be — from academic deans to the Oxford board of aldermen to the state board of trustees — can adjust, improve, or otherwise alter the status quo; but they soon find that students flow with whatever comes along. For example, the school that fifteen years ago was nationally known for racial discrimination continues to welcome black fraternities and sororities to its campus.

Although the idea of banning cars from the central campus during weekdays was shocking last spring, it effected little change in lifestyle when it was actually implemented during the first 1977 summer school term. Students with cars quickly learned to walk to class or to masterfully dodge UPD.

Experimentation with the class registration process began a couple of years ago with the installation of pre-registration. However, that method of choosing courses early was discontinued when the University planned to change to a totally computerized system. Except from seniors, little outcry was heard from students concerning this proposed alteration. But any anxiety about fall registration was relieved when the computer system and its components were not ready.

Even altering the things central to their everyday existence has caused no major upheavals in students' lives. They adjusted quickly to a longer walk to the grill, to longer lines that came with increased enrollment, to having a post office box key, to living three to a dorm room in some places, to reading a larger Mississippian, to losing to Southern (for the second time in history) and to State (again), to the closure of the cafeteria on weekends, and to increased emphasis of women's sports.

What next? Improvements are now being realized which threaten to change the established patterns. The progress toward the completion of the 4-laning of highway 6 to Batesville, the opening of the new McDonald's in Oxford, the increased emphasis on academics, the controversy over inclusion of women in Omicron Delta Kappa, and the construction of the Law Center and Coulter Hall are just a few of the innovations which will benefit the University.

However, there's a custom at Ole Miss that whatever happens, nothing, but nothing, will upset tradition. Surely students will continue to unaffectedly embrace the slow, steady transformation of their university lifestyles.

. . . but also the town of Oxford.

Oxford was incorporated May 11, 1837, but the settlement existed even before that as a trading post in the Chickasaw Country. It is a small town, rich in the traditions of the old South. With its antebellum homes, shady streets, and courthouse square, it is a quiet setting for Ole Miss. Oxford has almost a kind of magic air about it. In fact, a member of Player (the band which performed at Ole Miss with Boz Scaggs) said at the concert that downtown Oxford looked like Disneyland.

The people of Oxford are friendly. Their churches, parks, and public programs welcome students as well as residents. Merchants carry the kinds of goods students want and need. The opening of new restaurants and bars in the last few years has made Oxford a good place for students to spend the weekend. It's a nice town.

Oxford is a typical university town. Its economic dependence upon students has mixed with something in the town's atmosphere — perhaps the old but dying total separation between "University" people and "town" people — to produce an environment not wholly advantageous to the student. Apartments are scarce and quite expensive. Cold beer is eleven miles away. Hamburgers, fried chicken, and pizza are readily available — until midnight. The cost of necessary items — utilities, food, clothing — is high in relation to that of neighboring towns. There are few student discounts, and check writing is often difficult. Yes, it's a typical university town.

State and national events as well as local news continue to leave a permanent imprint on Ole Miss.

As a student attends Ole Miss he sometimes becomes so engrossed in his university activities that he is not as aware of state and national events as he should be. Nevertheless, the news events of spring, 1977, through winter, 1978, had a profound effect on each student's life.

Scientist Wernher von Braun died of cancer . . . entertainers Elvis Presley and Bing Crosby each died of heart conditions (although there seemed to be some question about the nature of Presley's death) . . . Orchestra leader Guy Lombardo and silent screen star Charlie Chaplin also died . . . the Alaska pipeline was officially opened, offering encouragement for United States independence of foreign oil . . . former Miss University Nancy White was pictured in TIME MAGAZINE . . . President Jimmy Carter held one of his town meetings in Yazoo City, Mississippi, while his brother manufactured Billy Beer back home in Plains, Georgia . . . hope for peace in the Mideast was fostered when Egyptian President Sadat visited Israel and the Holy Land.

After a University of Mississippi student graduates, he soon realizes that he must know what is happening in the outside world in order to be successful in his vocation. As he observes and is affected by the actions of world leaders, he will find his place in society.

A person doesn't need a reason for everything he does. Looking for a reason for every action is the kind of logic that keeps an individual from participating in the new and exciting experiences that competition brings.

Naturally, education presents the opportunity for such competition. Just as an animal fights for survival, a student faces a challenge in everything he pursues. Competition exists everywhere on campus as it does in every instance of life beyond the university tenure. Earning points — whether it's on a test, on a date, in an athletic contest, or in the form of votes is a gratifying experience.

Of course, seeking a victory can some times result in defeat. No one can disagree that losing hurts, nor that misfortune usually builds character. However, the true test of a person is the method in which he absorbs a victory. A true competitor is indeed one who can win gracefully because success should be an inner feeling of accomplishment. A true competitor learns from his mistakes and the mistakes of others. By being observant and persistent, a person can win on his own merit. What freedom it is to know that you don't have to justify anything to anyone and that you don't owe anyone anything.

foundation of pride in our University.

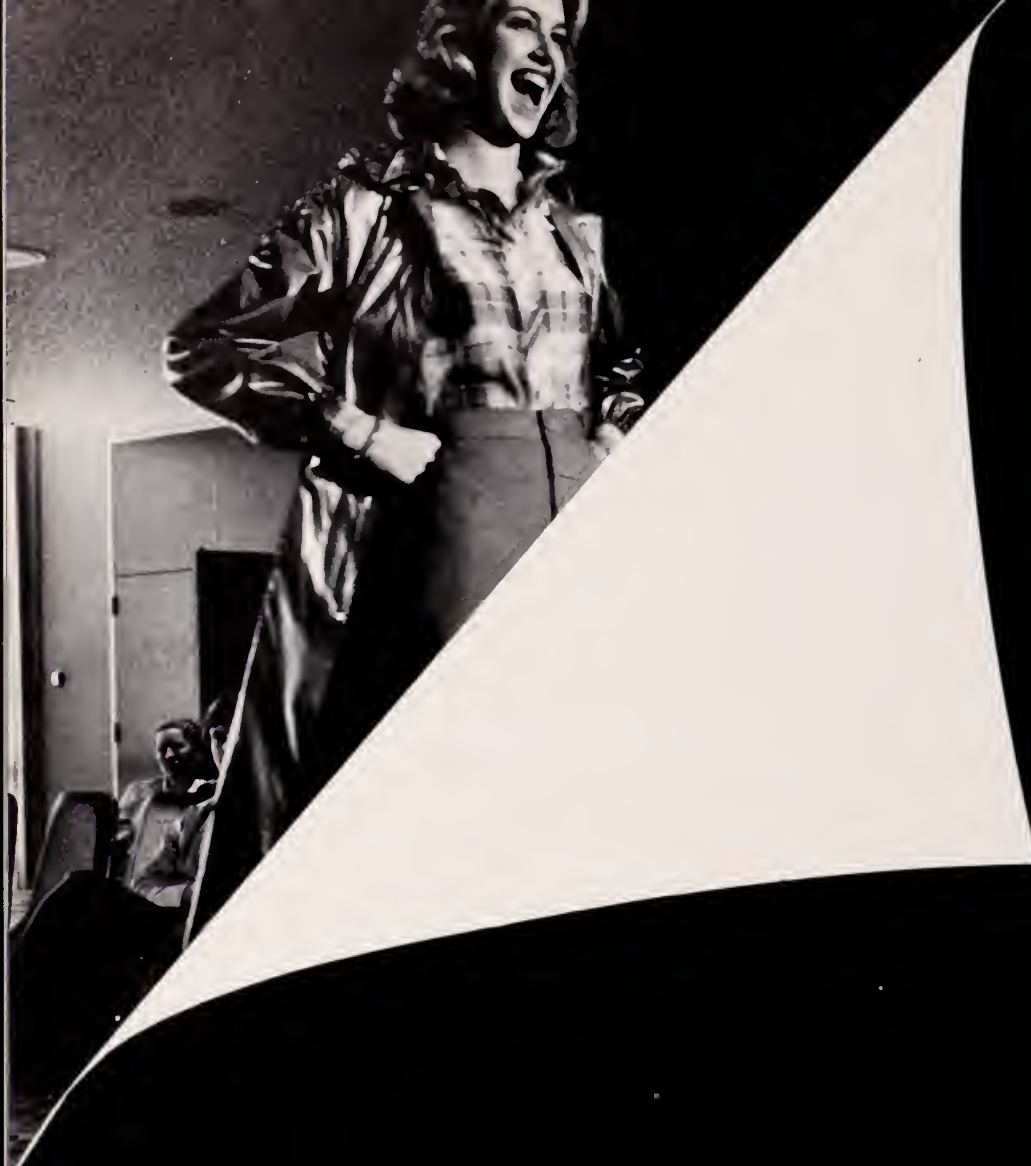

The University continually puts individuals in the spotlight literally and figuratively. By inviting various guest speakers, concert artists, and travelling minstrels to the campus, different organizations emphasize what many consider culture. But for others a pretty girl is all the culture needed. In addition, Ole Miss culture includes sports and idolizing star athletes although not to as great an extent as in previous years. Actually it is human nature to admire a talented and/or beautiful person whether that talent or beauty is on the stage, in pictures, or on the field.

Dixie Week

March 27-April 1

"Good times then are not forgotten" was the theme of Dixie Week 1977. Whether it was a messy plate of barbecue chicken in the Grove, shrimp and beer at Sardis, or the afternoon ice cream delight, memories of Dixie Week will linger with each student. After a shivering, sloshy winter, everyone was ready to stop and enjoy the week of festivities that welcomed spring to the campus. The week hosted six concerts, numerous games, races and exhibitions, three movies, a barbecue, a TV star, and free ice cream. Dixie Week "Games in the Grove" took a great deal more than just determination, even in the tug of war. Winners of the two-day games were Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Delta Gamma. On Tuesday during the barbecue in the Grove, Flash Cadillac and the Continental Kids performed bringing back a time gone by — one of sock hops in the gym, beer drinking in the parking lot, and pony tails. This concert was followed by Choice, a top 40's rock and roll band, and the movie TAXI DRIVER.

The Ole Miss Delight was a success with everyone getting all the chocolate, strawberry, vanilla, and chocolate ripple ice cream they could eat. Wednesday's activities also included free concerts by Hamilton, Joe Frank, and Dennison and by Starbuck. A free, two-hour clinic for frisbee throwers was held in the Grove on Thursday. The professional demonstration consisted of throwing, catching, and free-style techniques. That night Gabriel Kaplan, the comedian from "Welcome Back Kotter," was featured in Fulton Chapel.

Dixie Week ended a day earlier this year because the traditional final event, Red-Blue game, was surprisingly moved to April 30. The week was concluded Friday after the Shrimp Boil at Sardis. For most, it was a week that will never be forgotten.

ACTIVITIES

Union Activities

Students found the New Union to be a place with something for all. The Dating Game was a great success with everyone enjoying the questions and answers of the contestants. Acting as host, David Brevard thrilled the audience with his ready wit. "Gosh! It was a hard decision to pick the winning date," remarked contestant Pat Boren. On an evening in March, the Union Ballroom was transformed into a casino. Bingo, craps, blackjack, and poker were just a few games with which people tried their luck during the night.

Last spring, student leaders forming the Alpha Sigma Sigma Fraternity stole the Union-sponsored Gong Show with their song and dance to "She's a Rich Girl." Kenn Beeman and Darden North were lead vocalists for the group. This fall the Ole Miss Union also organized a Halloween Carnival where spooks, ghosts, and goblins invaded the entire campus after throwing water balloons and bobbing for apples.

The Union also provided daily entertainment with a variety of artist, films, hairdressers, displays, and magicians. In its first full year of operation, the Union has proven that Ole Miss truly has something for everyone.

Greek Week

March 6-10

For an entire week, our rather passive campus turned into a quasi-Acropolis, complete with chariots, goddesses, and contests of strength. Greek Week was enjoyed by all as a time of fun and much-welcomed relief from the normal daily routine. "Operation Greek," a leadership workshop, started off the week where members received advice on rush, pledge education, and officer training. Other events highlighting the week's festivities included a bartending class, a style show, and a dessert swap. The "Battle of the Greeks" proved to be a struggle to the finish with each organization using their skill and agility in hopes of winning a trophy. After a pageant of unusual talents, Les Kerr representing Phi Kappa Psi and Carol Turner representing Tri Delt were chosen as Greek God and Goddess. Kappa Alpha pledge Lane Carrick was announced as IFC Model Pledge and Delta Gamma pledge Wilma Johnson was selected as Panhellenic Model Pledge. One of the most popular events was the Disco Nite at Mr. Olivers where Chi Omega and Kappa Alpha were presented first place trophies for the week.

ACTIVITIES

Fall Festival

September 13-15

For the first time, the Welcome Back Rebels and Fall Festival parties were combined in order to create a bigger and better type of fall activity. The three-day extravaganza provided much variety and excitement for all Ole Miss students. Activities began with games at the University pool where students tested their skills in jousting matches, innertube relays, and three-legged races. More than the traditional barbecue and great dinner, everyone enjoyed this opportunity to visit and welcome friends back to the campus. Music during the week was provided by Eli, Con Funk Shun, and a concert featuring Travares. The week was brought to a close with the performance of Jack Nelson, recreating the character of Mark Twain.

Speakers

The University offered students a diversified group of speakers during the 1977-78 school year. At the October ODK-Mortar Board Forum, former Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban urged the United States to side with Israel in its role as mediator of the Arab-Israeli Middle East conflict. The controversial topic was protested by the Organization of Arab Students as they demonstrated outside of Fulton Chapel. Approximately fifty Arabs lined the sidewalks wearing dark blue shirts with white lettering reading "Palestine Forever," "Palestine Lives," and "Free Palestine." Several girls handed out pamphlets which outlined the Palestinian position. Despite the fact that the demonstration was well-disciplined and organized, University police security was heavy around Fulton Chapel. For instance, two members of UPD observed the area around Fulton with field glasses while they were perched on the roofs of the Ole Miss Union and Peabody Hall.

Campus Crusade for Christ sponsored the Christian speaker Josh McDowell to lecture September 12-13. He spoke on the subjects "The Great Resurrection Hoax" and "Maximum Sex." Various religious speakers presented by the Committee of 100 during the year included the following: (November 15) Dr. Margaret Walker Alexander, author of JUBILEE and Jackson State University Director of the Institute for the Study of History, Life, and Culture of Black People; (January 17) The Very Reverend Sidney Sanders, priest of St. Andrew's Episcopal Cathedral located in Jackson; (February 11) David Elkin, a former moonie.

Homecoming

October 22

Homecoming began with campaigns. Amy Webb, representing Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority, was selected Homecoming Queen for the festivities. After the elections, students began other homecoming traditions such as decorating their fraternity or sorority houses and dorms with beautiful displays, created by poking tissue paper into chicken wire. In this way, alumni were pleased with an enthusiastic showing of Ole Miss's school spirit. "Rising with the future" was the theme of the week. With images of Star Trek and Star Wars in mind, students carried out this theme with rocket ships and robots. The Rebels rose to the occasion by winning a hard fought game over Vanderbilt. The week full of activity ended on Saturday night with the traditional round of fraternity parties.

COLONEL REBEL & MISS OLE MISS

GEORGE PLASKETES & DEBBIE BUSH

The athletic department of the University of Mississippi scored another victory as football player George Plasketes and cheerleader Debbie Bush were voted Colonel Rebel and Miss Ole Miss.

George, who is from Riverside, Illinois, possesses invaluable leadership abilities. Demonstrative of this trait are his being named as President of the M-Club, as permanent football team co-captain in 1976 and 1977, and as recipient of the Jeff K. Hamm leadership award. Being a religious person, George is active as President of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and as a member of the Committee of 100. George's excellence was once again recognized as he was given the Rebel Club "Super Rebel" award in 1976 and also in 1977. Among his other honors are being selected to the all-SEC academic team and to the All-SEC first teams of United Press International and of Associated Press. In addition, he was given All-American Honorable Mention by the AP in 1977. However, as George jokingly admits, his favorite activity at Ole Miss has been the Girls' Glee Club with which he has performed for four years. With all of these credits to his name, it is easy to see why George Plasketes was chosen as a member of the 1977-1978 Hall of Fame.

Debbie Bush, a senior from Tupelo, was elected by the student body as this year's Miss Ole Miss. Successful in other elections, Debbie has been chosen cheerleader for four years and was selected a Campus Favorite. A member of Delta Gamma Social Sorority, she has served as that body's assistant treasurer. Debbie holds membership in Mortar Board, Beta Alpha Psi Accounting Honorary, and Phi Gamma Nu Business Honorary. An Ole Miss Recruitment Committee member and Ole Miss Ambassador, she also participates in Concert Singers, Lambda Sigma, and the Committee of 100. With so many varied activities, Debbie was named this year to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Miss Ole Miss lists her favorite hobbies as sewing, needlecraft, and singing, as well as playing the piano and guitar.

DIANE DEATON

Enrolled in communicative disorders, polite and charming Diane Deaton has been involved at Ole Miss through several leadership capacities besides being Mortar Board President. The senior served as Vice-President and Activities Chairman of Chi Omega Sorority, as Chairman of the Committee of 82, and as Chairman of the 1977 Dixie Week Ticket Sales and Tee-Shirts committees. Diane, who came to Ole Miss from Greenwood, interned last summer in a congressman's national office. While vividly remembering that she literally ran into Zsa Zsa Gabor at a Washington party, Diane says that she was definitely able to meet many intriguing celebrities and national leaders during her stay in the nation's capital. Last summer was extremely busy for the Mississippi State Representative's daughter in that the warm weather included opportunities for white water rafting and for camping trips. Definitely an individual, Diane points out that she has never been a member of AWS committees, nor does she watch TV. She does do some needlepoint and enjoys playing intellectually stimulating backgammon. Diane hopes to enter the field of communicative disorders following graduation.

Coming to Ole Miss from a family of five girls and one boy, Sheila, a native of Vicksburg, is known by many as a genuinely nice person. A member of Kappa Delta Sorority, she has served as Chaplain and Scholarship Chairman. As a freshman she began to bring honor to her sorority when she was chosen Panhellenic Campus Model Pledge. Later, Sheila received the National Kappa Delta Scholarship Award. Admitted into Alpha Lambda Delta Scholarship Honorary during her first year at the University, she served as Historian for that organization. Sheila has been active as an Associated Student Body Executive Secretary, as an Ole Miss Ambassador, and as a member of Lambda Sigma, while also being a part of the Committee of 100. A devout Christian, Sheila is inspired by participating in Bible Studies and hearing Christian speakers. Even though she is busy with her extracurricular activities and her studies, the junior secondary education major seems to consistently show concern for the problems of others. She enjoys talking to people whenever time permits, as demonstrated by her continual visits with her three sisters — Ellen, Elise, and Catherine — who are also Kappa Deltas at Ole Miss.

CATHY HIRSCH

As ASB Vice-President, Cathy Hirsch has spent this year quieting the Campus Senate by pounding her Senate President's gavel. Named to the University's Hall of Fame and to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, Cathy was a two-year Campus Senator, Vice-Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and Chairman of the University Development Sub-Committee. The senior pre-med major from Greenville has been Scholarship Chairman of Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority, Chairman of 1977 AWS Women's Week, Vice-President of Beta Beta Beta Biology Honorary, as well as being a member of Mortar Board. Known as the "Hirschey Bar Twins," Cathy and her twin sister Terry (also an Ole Miss senior) were at age sixteen pictured hunting on the front of an issue of MISSISSIPPI GAME AND FISH COMMISSION MAGAZINE. Since Cathy and her sister plan to become physicians like their father and grandfather, both of them work as nurses during the summers for their father in Greenville. A person with a witty personality, Cathy has shown during the past four years that she can be both a serious leader and a fun-loving friend.

Rose Jackson, a junior from Clarksdale, has a genuine interest in all people. Through her various extracurricular activities, she has developed sincere friendships with many people on campus. Her leadership positions include being Sigma Delta Chi Journalism Honorary National Board Representative, Association for Women Students Treasurer, Associated Student Body Press Secretary, and Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority Social Chairman. This Alpha Kappa Alpha Lady (who usually wears a rose in her hair) is a Navy Sponsor, a University Scholar, a member of the Committee of 82, an Ole Miss Ambassador, and a member of the Committee of 100. In addition, Rose was pictured in the 1977 OLE MISS as a Sophomore Homecoming Maid and also was chosen as Mortar Board Sophomore Honor Girl that year. The English and journalism major is known to the University as the DAILY MISSISSIPPIAN reporter who covers sorority and fraternity events as well as a wide range of other campus news. Rose, one of the most refreshing students at Ole Miss, likes to write and dance in her spare time; however, when she does have a few extra moments (and for Rose they certainly are few), she just relaxes and enjoys life.

PAULA JENNINGS

Paula's service to the student body has been distinctive in that she was Secretary of the Associated Student Body during her junior year. Paula Jennings (or "PJ" as she is more affectionately known) is presently Secretary of the 1978 University of Mississippi Senior Class. Paula, who claims Kosciusko as her hometown, is a member of Delta Gamma Sorority in which she has been Rush Chairman. Listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, she is also a Pike Little Sister and a member of the Committee of 82. Paula finds swimming and tennis enjoyable, while reading occupies some of her time. One of the friendliest people on campus, Paula plans to teach for a career. If the English major has as good a rapport with her future students as she has had with the student body, then she will indeed have a successful life.

A twenty-year old junior from Jackson, Dare is the oldest of three children. Majoring in journalism and advertising with a minor in business, she has balanced her studies with a wide range of extracurricular activities. Her duties as Secretary of the 1978 OLE MISS, Phi Mu Sorority Panhellenic Representative and Rush Chairman, KA Southern Belle (Little Sister) President, Campus Senate Legislation Monitor and Sergeant-at-Arms, AWS Executive Secretary, Junior Panhellenic Advisor, Ole Miss Ambassador, and Committee of 100 member have kept her busy. Dare's "little girl" smile and charm, as well as her lack of interest in needlepoint, make her distinctive. Dare says that her one interest is people, and she does indeed spend a lot of time on the phone in trying to solve the problems of others. She likes crowds and parties; but when talking to people she prefers one-to-one conversation. Romantic at heart, Dare loves to see old movies, especially Sunday afternoon matinees. The outdoors has a place in Dare's life in that water skiing and sailing fascinate her, as does snow skiing. In fact, her favorite place to visit is Colorado. Dare enjoys staying up late and waking up early. And, indeed, she certainly needs as many possible hours out of the day to get out of life all that she demands.

PEGGY REISSER

Having been sponsored in the Favorites election by Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority, Associated Student Body Secretary Peggy Reisser is a Senior from a large Memphis family. A journalism major, Peggy is a reporter for the DAILY MISSISSIPPIAN, covering the University Academic Council and the Associated Graduate Student Body as well as other activity-oriented organizations. She has also served as a Page Editor for the Mississippian since January, 1978. Listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, Peggy has also been Kappa's Panhellenic Council Representative; an Ole Miss Ambassador; and Publicity Chairman for the Association of Women Students, for Dixie Week, and for Homecoming. Prior to serving as Associated Student Body Secretary, Peggy was Legislation Monitor for the Campus Senate. She feels that through these two positions she has especially learned how to work with people — particularly the University administration. Though reading and playing tennis are her hobbies, Peggy likes to stroll around campus and visit friends. A neat and precise person, Peggy hopes to have a career as a reporter for a large newspaper.

Lisa Roberts, a native of Meridian, was sponsored by Kappa Delta Sorority in this year's Parade of Favorites. As well as being one of her sorority's favorites, she is also one of its most active members. Serving as this year's Panhellenic President, Lisa has come into contact with many new faces. With her bubbly, outgoing personality, she was a natural choice for Pre-College Counseling and for the University Welcoming Committee. Lisa also exercised her charm by being a Legislative Day Hostess and by serving as Rush Chairman for Kappa Delta. The English and history major was selected Top Ten Best Dressed in 1976 and was chosen a Pike Calendar Girl. Lisa says that her favorite pastime is watching old movies while drinking strawberry milkshakes. After graduation in May, Lisa plans to attend Paralegal School in Atlanta.

CAROL TURNER

A native of Tyler, Texas, Carol Turner decided to come to Ole Miss because her older brother attended the University. Carol, a senior art major, is partial to painting floral landscapes and outdoor scenes. Actually, she has been painting since she was thirteen years old and finds that art is a marvelous way to express herself. A self-professed health nut, Carol plays tennis and jogs to stay in shape. She is also inclined to snow or water ski whenever possible. Carol adores snow (and definitely had enough to adore on campus during the winter of 1978). Having appeared in the 1977 OLE MISS as a Junior Maid of the 1976 Homecoming Court, Carol was selected 1977 Greek Goddess and a Pike Calendar Girl National Finalist. Carol, SAE Little Sister of Minerva, is a member of Delta Delta Delta Sorority in which she has served as Publicity Chairman and Historian. While having been a member of the ASB Elections Committee, she is also a member of Kappa Pi Art Honorary. Considering all of Carol's honors and extracurricular activities, it is easy to see why Carol Turner is really something special.

Varsity Cheerleader Renée Windsor is a junior from Jackson, Mississippi, majoring in marketing. Besides serving as a Varsity Cheerleader this year, Renée was one of the last Ole Miss Freshman Cheerleaders. She was also a Varsity Cheerleader during the second semester of her sophomore year after having served as an Alternate Varsity Cheerleader during the first semester. Normally a shy person, Renée becomes quite energetic while cheering on the football field and basketball court. Renée feels that being a Cheerleader is one of the constructive ways to become involved on campus, although she is also a Navy Sponsor. Affiliated with two Greek organizations, Renée is a member of Phi Mu Sorority and is a KA Southern Belle (Little Sister). Definitely a girl who enjoys reading and needlepoint, Renée likes to swim, play tennis, participate in gymnastics, and bicycle for recreation. Although she likes to consume four candy bars in one sitting, Renée continually manages to keep her cute little cheerleader figure.

MARY DONNELLY

Crowned Miss University in February of 1977, Mary Donnelly claimed the title of Miss Mississippi in July. The first Miss University to attain such an honor since 1961, Mary grandly represented the state of Mississippi at the Miss America Pageant held in Atlantic City, New Jersey. She was cheered on by her family and a group of Ole Miss students who proudly waved Rebel flags and sang "Dixie." Upon her return, Mary was honored by the University when October 15 was proclaimed "Mary Donnelly Day."

A whirlwind of activities on campus, including University Modeling Board, Chi Omega Sorority, Angel Flight, and Sigma Chi Little Sister, keep this Miss Mississippi constantly on the go. Brains are also combined with Mary's beauty for she claims membership in Alpha Lambda Delta and Lambda Sigma scholarship honoraries as well as Sigma Alpha Iota Music Honorary. A native of Beaumont, Texas, the music education major has also been selected as a Pike Calendar Girl. During her active reign as Miss Mississippi, Mary has entertained throughout the state at banquets, conventions, and beauty pageants. She fills what little spare time she has with needlepoint and singing. Also during her free moments Mary likes to use the talent that comes most easily to her — that of just talking to people and being friendly.

MOST BEAUTIFUL

CHERI BROWN

The Parade of Beauties Pageant was climaxed when the judges selected Cheri Brown, a five-foot six brunette from Meridian, as Most Beautiful. The junior music education major gets a big thrill from seeing the golden arches of MacDonald's and from licking postage stamps. Having the unusual hobby of egg collecting, blue-eyed Cheri likes houseplants, macramé, and needlepoint. Prior to participating in the Parade of Beauties Pageant, Cheri had had much stage experience. She was Mississippi's Junior Miss while a senior in high school, in addition to later being Miss Meridian in 1976 and placing in the top ten in the 1976 Miss Mississippi Pageant. Last summer Cheri was Meridian's Miss Hospitality and ranked in the Top Ten in the state contest. "The Group," Angel Flight, and the UM Modeling Board claim Cheri as a member while she is also active in Sigma Alpha Iota Music Honorary and in Lambda Sigma. A Pike Calendar Girl, Cheri is also Chi Psi Fraternity Sweetheart and a Chi Psi Little Sister. Cheri seemed to enjoy the Beauties Pageant, and she was definitely successful in it.

BEAUTY

MONA VAUGHN

Tiptonville, Tennessee's Ole Miss Beauty, Mona Vaughn, is a five-foot five junior majoring in fashion merchandising. Beginning her pageant career while a junior in high school as Miss Tiptonville Strawberry Festival Queen, blonde blue-eyed Mona was selected Miss Union (the equivalent of Miss University) when she was a freshman at Union University in Jackson, Tennessee. She then earned first runner-up in the 1976 Miss Tennessee Pageant. Transferring to Ole Miss as a sophomore, Mona participated in the 1977 Miss University Pageant and was ranked as first runner-up; she was later crowned Miss University for 1977. A member of Chi Omega Sorority, Mona dances and sings in "The Group" and is a Pike Calendar Girl. In addition to enjoying water skiing, swimming, backgammon, bowling, and eating barbecue, Mona has an affinity for cracking her knuckles and spending her daddy's money. She looks forward to her career in fashion merchandising because she feels that dealing with people brings great personal satisfaction.

Chi Omega Sorority Pledge Class President, brunette Lucy Rice is a junior from Webb, majoring in general business. Having transferred to Ole Miss this fall from Mississippi University for Women, Lucy is a member of the University of Mississippi Modeling Board, a member of Junior Panhellenic, and President of the SAE Little Sisters. During the 1977 Best Dressed Contest, she ranked in the Top Ten. While attending MUW and a member of Silhouette Social Club, Lucy was chosen Most Beautiful, Most Charming, and Miss "W" (the equivalent of Miss University). She was also named second alternate in the Miss Mississippi Pageant. When indoors, Lucy likes to read and create her own needlepoint designs; but swimming, horseback riding, and lion taming are her outdoor activities. Always poised and dignified, five-foot eleven, brown-eyed Lucy is certainly a Delta Beauty.

LISSA FRANKENBACH

Featured in the 1977 OLE MISS as Best Dressed, blue-eyed blonde Lissa Frankenbach represented Phi Mu Sorority in the Parade of Beauties Pageant. Lissa likes clothes as evidenced by her participation in the University of Mississippi Modeling Board and her working in a downtown Oxford clothing store. For a career, she plans to use her marketing major along with her ability to easily meet people in some form of retailing. By assisting her employer in the buying of clothes for his business, she has gained practical experience in marketing. Chairman of Publicity and Publications for the Modeling Board, Phi Mu Public Relations and Special Projects Chairman, a member of the AWS Recruitment and ASB Spirit Committees, and a Pike Calendar Girl, Lissa is a junior from Nashville. She has also been Secretary of the Student Traffic Appeals Board and AWS Art Director. Lissa says that she likes to eat; however, it is evident that the calories do not seem to affect her five-foot five frame.

A five-foot eight, brown-eyed blonde from Greenville, Suzanne Snipes is a Delta Delta Delta majoring in communicative disorders. Suzanne's friendly personality quickly reveals that she has made a valuable contribution to the ASB Spirit Committee. Complaining that her phone does not ring enough, Suzanne says that she stays busy not doing anything. She does, however, enjoy riding horses, snow skiing, water skiing, life-guarding, and football (having been for the Dallas Cowboys in the Superbowl). Suzanne also confesses that she is a wonderful sorority big sister and that she hates to feed large-beaked birds by hand. A member of the Delta Debutante Club for the 1977 season, Suzanne enjoyed her participation in the Parade of Beauties Pageant because the event gave her an opportunity to meet many people. Even though she finds beauty pageants exciting, Suzanne feels that if a person is kind and nice, then he or she is indeed beautiful.

MISS MISSISSIPPI UNIVERSE

LEIGH TAPLEY

Miss Mississippi Universe Leigh Tapley, a junior from Jackson, has experienced several humorous moments while fulfilling her title. While at the Miss USA Pageant held in Charleston, South Carolina, she received a nightgown by mail from a man whom she did not know. Leigh says that during her reign she has received so much mail from children all over the state that the Jackson Post Office keeps a special box for her which she cleans out weekly. Leigh, a speech and theater major, uses her interest in the stage to keep busy by performing in both "The Group" and the UM Modeling Board. Recognized as a Top Five Beauty in last year's Parade of Beauties Pageant and featured in the 1977 OLE MISS, Leigh was also selected a Pike Calendar Girl. Leigh confesses that she does not have the patience to do needle point, but that she does enjoy swimming, tennis, and lifeguarding.

BEST DRESSED

MONA BRITT

Mona Britt, a picturesque Junior from Jackson, was chosen Best Dressed Co-Ed in the annual pageant sponsored by Women in Communications. While recently being named to the Top Ten in the Miss of Cotton Greenwood Memphis, Mona was named Most Beautiful (as pictured in the 1975 U.S. MISS) and Pike Dream Girl her freshman year. Majored in English, Mona still finds time to participate as a Delta Delta Delta Sorority officer, as a member of the UM Modeling Board, and as a Pike Little Sister. A part of the Symphony Sub Debs of Jackson and the Collins Club of Jackson, Mona cites GONE WITH THE WIND as her favorite movie with reading, riding, horseback riding, and modeling as her favorite spare-time activities.

BASEBALL

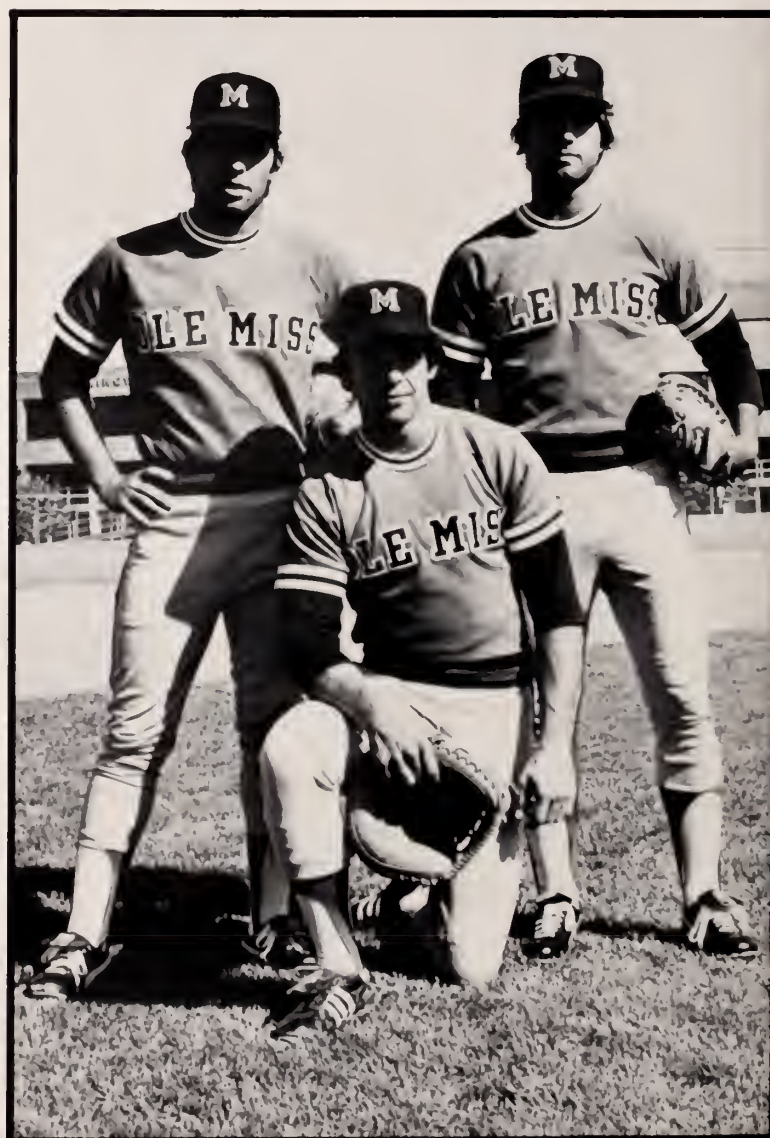

The Rebels performed the way fans and coaches would expect a great team to play. By the end of the season, they had won the first SEC championship the University had seen in five years. When a sacrifice fly was needed to advance a runner, it was realized. With a man on third late in the game, a better hit that fly needed to bring the runner home. Many times in the final stages of the game a relief pitcher provided the necessary ingredient for the win. Baseball '77 brought a sense of pride and enjoyment back to the school thanks to the players hustling together as a team and the coaches working hard.

The Rebels started the 1977 season with memories of an 18-18 record from the year before. Determined to improve, they won their first ten of eleven games. The Rebels' powerful sticks could not be denied in their first major SEC encounter as they whipped LSU in Baton Rouge two of three games. Ole Miss then went on to beat 'Bama twice.

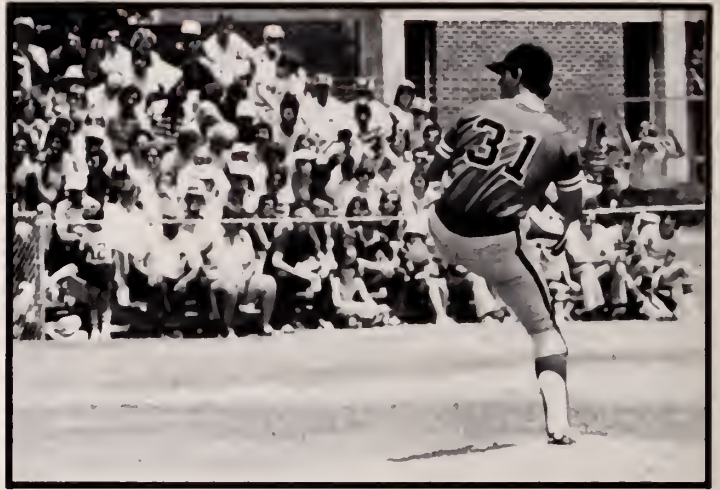

After losing twice to Auburn, the Rebs came back full speed with powerful hitting, "the mule" pitching, and won the next six of nine SEC games.

The season came down to the wire as the powerful Auburn War Eagles rolled into Ole Miss with some of the finest SEC pitching seen in years. But the Rebels used awesome power-hitting and fine late-inning pitching to turn back the War Eagles two of three times to claim the SEC Western Division Title. This was the first since Paul Husband, Steve Dillard, Dennis Starr, and Company won in 1972.

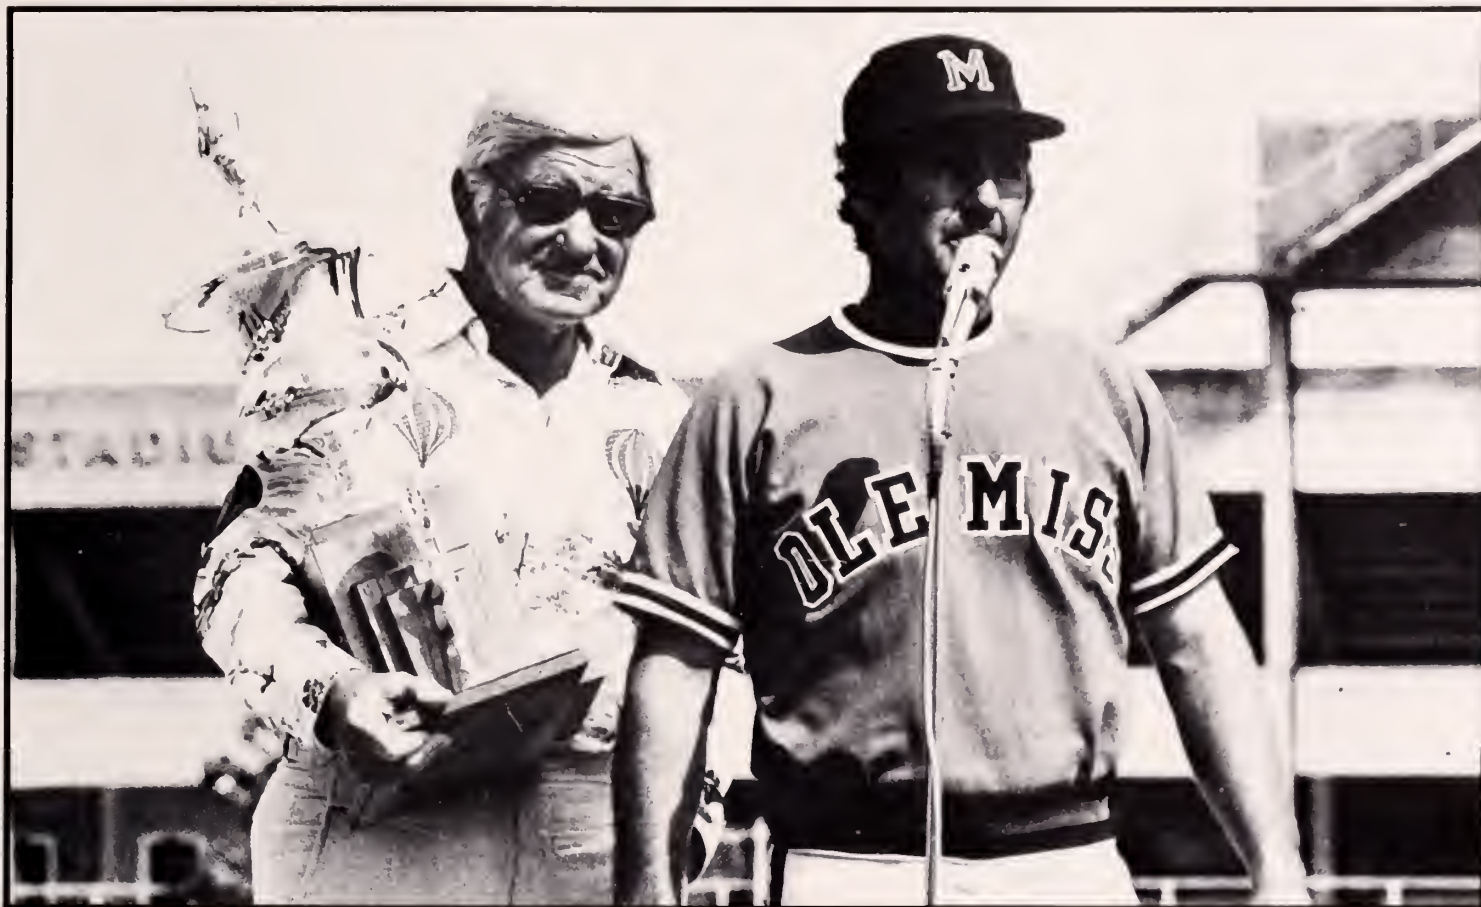

This year the winner of the western division title served as host for the SEC playoffs bringing to the University campus Eastern Division first and second place winners (Florida and Vanderbilt) and the Western Division second place winner (Mississippi State). The Rebels pulled off a late-innings victory over Vanderbilt to open the playoffs. After falling to Florida, the Rebels promptly disposed of the Bulldogs by giving them their second loss. The SEC championship came down to the wire as Ole Miss was forced to beat Florida two games in a row. Behind the big sticks of Templeton, Pameranz, and Barnthouse, the Rebels ripped the Gators to take the SEC Title.

Winning the SEC Title sent Ole Miss on to the NCAA South Region playoffs. The Rebels were beaten by Clemson on a ninth-inning home run, but came back to defeat Morehead State before being eliminated by Miami.

The SEC Title in baseball was the first one the University had seen in any sport in five years. It brought to the baseball team the attention greatly deserved. Many Rebels received the credit due them for their hard work and achievement. Pat Ball, Mark Barnthouse, Bubba Hubbard, Mike Pomeranz, and Rick Zibilich were named to the All-Western Division team. Barnthouse was also named to the All-SEC and All-Regional teams. Following the winning of the Title, there was talk of appropriating funds needed to make the improvements necessary to bring Swayze Field up to the standards due a championship team.

FOOTBALL

While perfecting the fine art of inconsistency, the Rebels produced a 1977 season slate that was a masterpiece of mediocrity. Whether it was riding out stadiums in a beam of sunshine or waiting until after dark to sneak out of service entrances, the Red and Blue was marveled at and made fun of in the same fashion that it had been for the last four years. Grumbling alumni became convinced that the only thing they were doing with their Saturday afternoons was contributing to the development of excuse-making as an exact science. Talk of seeking a second mortgage on the Lyceum to finance a new direction for the football program began as early as the fourth game of the season. Crucial victories, close margins of defeat, and extra doses of bourbon in red plastic cups quieted the unrest of Rebel fans until season's end. The turn of events during the weeks after the Golden Egg debacle contest ranks among such miracles as the parting of the Red Sea and the Ole Miss defeat of Notre Dame. In a whirlwind of activity, Cooper soon resigned in a questionable and cryptic flurry. Hope was then returned to the Rebel faithful as Steve Sloan and his whole entourage of assistant coaches was signed on to replace the Cooper team. Hoddy Toddy!

Rebels Joyously Win Two of First Three

More than 45,500 eager fans saw Ole Miss snap Memphis State's three year winning streak in a hard-fought 7-3 contest in Jackson's Mississippi Memorial Stadium.

Employing their new veer-offense, quarterback Bobby Garner directed the Rebels as they gained 262 total yards to the Tigers' 171. Although Memphis State's haphazard offense supplied the Rebels with numerous scoring opportunities, the Red and Blue Machine could muster only one TD with Fullback James Storey's 19-yard scamper in the first period. Storey led all rushers with 100 yards in 18 attempts.

Alabama in Birmingham

The next week, the Rebels were rejected in Birmingham by nationally ranked Alabama. The Tide started its season by rolling over Ole Miss 34-14. For the Rebs, this marked the fourth loss in the last five meetings with Bear Bryant's crew. Bruised and battered, the Johnny Rebs left Legion Field but only after Bama got revenge from last year's 10-7 decision.

On September 17, Ole Miss humiliated one of the biggest gridiron powers of all-time and left an embarrassing scar on Notre Dame's Irish pride by causing the only regular season loss for the Fighting Irish. From the beginning, Ole Miss dominated the action as quarterbacks Bobby Garner and Tim Ellis combined for an impressive 194 yards passing.

Memphis State in Jackson

Garner's longest pass was a 50-yard completion to Roy Coleman in the second quarter. A few plays later, a 10-yard TD pass to James Storey enabled the Rebs to enjoy a 10-7 halftime lead. The enjoyment wasn't lasting though as the fourth ranked Fighting Irish emerged from the lockers anxiously seeking victory. However, the Rebs denied them again with a 48-yard pass play from Ellis to L. Q. Smith which was the key to the fourth quarter game-winning TD drive.

The Ole Miss offensive unit registered 351 total yards in the scorching heat and controlled defensive All-Americans Fry and Browner. Defensively, George Plasketes led the campaign with fifteen tackles.

The week after the massacre of the South Bend Boys was just as glorious. Four players and Head Coach Ken Cooper received national honors. For his 12 solo tackles and his 6 assists, defensive tackle Charlie Cage was selected as the UPI Southeast Defensive Player of the Week. Reserve linebacker Brian Moreland, replacing the injured Eddie Cole, gathered 9 solos and 5 assists in being named the "Sports Illustrated" national collegiate Lineman of the Week.

For their aerial attack and superb ground control, Ellis and Garner shared the AP backfield award, while Cooper captured the UPI Coach of the Week award.

Rebels Lose Three in the Rain

Downstate rival USM, with an upset victory over Auburn tucked under its belt, blasted its way into rain-soaked Hemingway Stadium and left victoriously 27-19. The first campus game for the '77 season, it marked only the second loss for Ole Miss in the series against Southern.

With a comfortable half time lead of 19-7, the Rebels entered the second half — mustering only forty additional yards rushing. However, Southern gathered 252 yards rushing for the afternoon.

The Rebs also gave up four fumbles. Punter Jim Miller provided the only bright spot for the day by averaging 49.6 yards on his 5 punts.

Ole Miss Head Coach Ken Cooper

Jordan-Hare Stadium was the site for the Johnny Rebs second SEC contest. With ABC providing regional television coverage, the Rebs succumbed in a heart-breaking 21-15 loss to Auburn. Five minutes remained in the first half when backup quarterback Tim Ellis came into the game, replacing the injured Bobby Garner. Ellis's strong surge late in the game gave hope to the Oxford crew, but a stubborn Auburn defense stalled the Rebs' attack. Defensive end George Plasketes led the defense with 6 solo tackles, 4 assists, and 4 fumble recoveries — three of which led to scores. For his efforts, Plasketes earned the UPI National Southeast Defensive Player of the Week.

Athens, Georgia, and its hedges saw Ole Miss suffer its third straight loss, but only after the Rebs waged one of their strongest comebacks ever. Down 14-zip in the 4th quarter, Tim Ellis entered in his usual heroic role. After a couple of quick plays, Ellis found Storey open across the middle for a 44-yard TD pass. After a couple of punts and interceptions, the Rebs found the end zone again. This time it was Ellis connecting with tight end Curtis Weathers from the eight yard line. Unable to convert on a 2-point attempt, Ole Miss watched the clock tick away — Georgia 14, Ole Miss 13.

Auburn in Auburn

Under fire from various alumni groups, Cooper entered into what critics billed as the "most important" game in his career. But Hemingway and sun-scorched fans saw Cooper's Troopers pluck the Gamecocks of South Carolina 17-10 and quiet much of the criticism. Again Rebel fans watched as #14 Plasketes led the defense with 15 tackles and quarterbacks Ellis and Garner directed the backfield to the tune of 288 yards rushing. Backs Freddie Williams and James Storey produced a touchdown apiece while kicking specialist Hoppy Langley split the uprights with less than a minute in the game. The win broke a 3-year losing streak with the Carolina bunch and a 3-game losing streak for the 1977 Ole Miss season.

After three misguided quarters, Ole Miss came back to beat Vandy 26-14 before a Homecoming crowd of 32,500. An impressive Tim Ellis led the attack by accounting for 239 total yards. Kicker Hoppy Langeley placed the Rebs on the scoreboard with his first quarter 46-yard field goal. Then on the kickoff, Vandy's Preston Brown raced 100 yards for an easy six points. Vandy scored again on a 74-yard touchdown pass play but Ole Miss responded with an Ellis-to-Weathers 63-yard scoring strike and another Langeley field goal moments later. With both teams stymied in the third quarter, the Johnny Rebs produced two more touchdowns in the final quarter to once again put the fourth quarter jinx on the Seamen.

Rebels Devour Tennessee and Tragically Lose to State

Fresh from an open weekend, the Rebels cruised into Liberty Bowl Memorial Stadium. They left almost as easily — but not until the Big Orange from Tennessee had been crushed for 43 points. In what Vol Head Coach Johnny Majors described as an "old-fashioned Tailkicking," Ole Miss capitalized on six turnovers, making four touchdowns and one field goal. Compiling a total of 459 yards, Ole Miss gathered more points than had ever been scored under Cooper.

Defensive end Plasketes racked up ten tackles, two fumble recoveries, and three sacks. Running back James Storey led the ground attack with three touchdowns and 88 yards rushing.

By outlasting a first quarter rainstorm and two Rebel touchdowns, arch-rival Mississippi State fought back to beat Ole Miss 18-14. This victory marked the first back-to-back State conquests against Ole Miss since the 1941-42 campaign. After rolling up 150 yards rushing and a pair of touchdowns in the first quarter of action, the Rebels came to a screeching halt. They gained only 42 more yards in the last forty-five minutes of play. The Bulldogs added their points to the scoreboard little by little with two field goals and two touchdowns. State and its outlawed cowbells finished the game with 387 total yards and the coveted Golden Egg. The loss left Ole Miss with a 5-6 season and several disappointed seniors.

Although football season was finished, the first few weeks after the 1977 campaign saw the athletic department humming with activity. Post season athletic honors went to several Ole Miss players with defensive end George Plasketes heading the list of those chosen.

Plasketes was selected AP All-American honorable mention, AP All-SEC, and UPI All-SEC. In addition to Plasketes, seniors Robert Fabris and Gary Jones were selected for Academic All-SEC. Jim Miller was selected by UPI as All-SEC. Fabris and Plasketes were also selected as Academic All-American.

All-Star bowl invitations went to Kem Coleman, Tim Ellis, and George Plasketes. Coleman was invited to play in the East-West Shrine game in San Francisco and in the Senior Bowl. Plasketes was invited to three bowl games: the Blue-Grey in Birmingham, the Hula Bowl in Honolulu, and the Japan Bowl in Tokyo. Ellis joined Plasketes in the Japan Bowl.

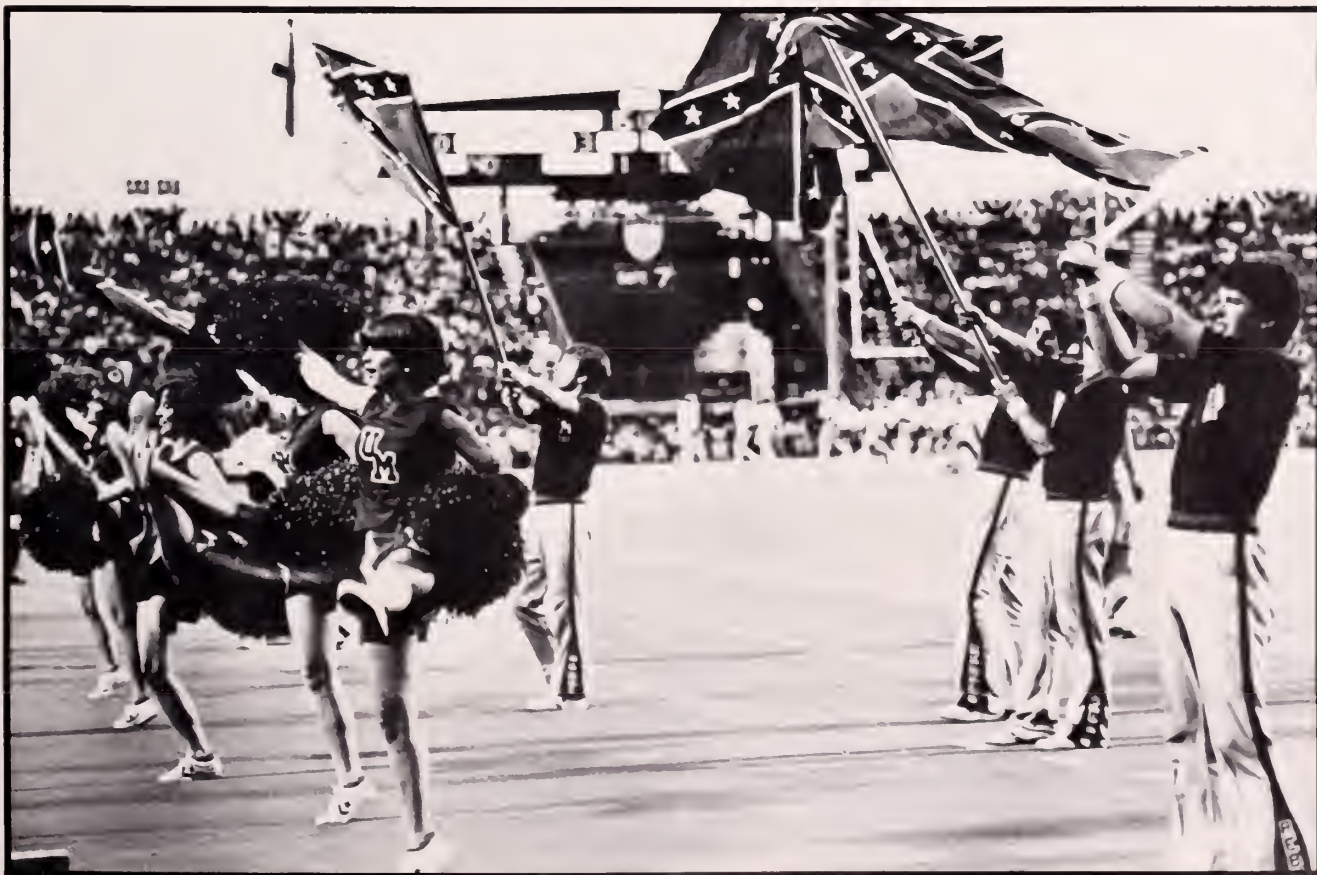

Just ten days after receiving a full vote of confidence from the Ole Miss Athletic Committee, Head Football Coach Ken Cooper submitted his resignation to Chancellor Porter Fortune saying that it was in "the best interest of the University and its football program." Chancellor Fortune in return cited Cooper as one "who displayed dignity and character in triumph and adversity." A few days later Texas Tech Head Coach Steve Sloan accepted the Ole Miss vacancy and promptly began choosing his staff. On December 2, 1977, retiring Athletic Director John Vaught (along with the Chancellor, other Ole Miss officials, and approximately 1500 exuberant fans) welcomed Sloan to the University with a pep rally and press conference.

Although the Ole Miss Lady Rebels Volleyball Team is the newest addition to the University's athletic department, they have quickly proven their capabilities and are eagerly anticipating a promising future.

With first-year head coach Cheryl Holt at the helm, the Lady Rebels performed remarkably well last season. They demolished five other teams to win the Ole Miss Invitational Tournament in October. In the last week of October, the 12-woman squad competed in the SEC Tournament and finished a strong third behind LSU and Tennessee.

Then in November, the Lady Rebels seized the state championship ending MUW's seven-year string of state titles. Because of their fine performances, Linda Conner, Frances Hicks, and Cathy Castel were named to the All-State team.

After capturing second place in the regional volleyball tournament, the Lady Rebels traveled to Provo, Utah, for the nationals. Although the Lady Rebs exhibited fine talent, they were crippled by their lack of height. After being quickly knocked out of competition, their season ended with a 33-15 record.

Last spring, the Ole Miss Golf team, led by coach Ray Poole, competed with honors in several hard-fought matches. On March 6, the golfers returned to campus from the Florida State Invitational Tournament where they placed seventh from a field of 23. Later that month, the team encountered stiff opposition in the Junior-Senior Invitational, the Holiday Inn-Dixie Tournament, and the SEC Tournament.

After returning in the fall of '77 under the new direction of coach Don Fruge, the golf crew finished with an impressive second place in the Mississippi Inter-Collegiate Tournament.

After a thrilling 7-1 start, the Ole Miss Lady Rebs Tennis Team came back in the opening of '77 to win ten straight events, including victories over arch-rivals Mississippi State, Memphis State, and Tulane. Two of the tournaments, William Carey and Memphis State, were shut-outs. For the first time in Lady Reb history, the women's team beat 'Bama and MUW. T.C. Dean had no losses for the season in doubles or singles play. Renee Pereira and Catherine Yelverton each were top-ranked for half of the year at Ole Miss. Pereira was ranked #3 in the Southwest and in the 45-52 national bracket; Yelverton, second in the State, was ranked in the top ten in the South and 80-85 in national competition.

The Ole Miss Men's Tennis Team began the 1977 spring season with a disappointing loss to Memphis State. But the team later sprang back winning a remarkable eleven out of twelve tournaments, including an upset victory over Tennessee. The 5-4 Tennessee decision marked the first time in history that the men's squad had beaten the Vols. The remainder of the season proved less outstanding as the men netters won six and lost seven. However, the men's tennis team placed 7th in SEC action after having finished tenth for the past three years. The season ended on a favorable note when Bob Barnes reached SEC finals and Tad Wise finished first among fourth-seeded players.

Men's Basketball

1977-78 can be best remembered as the basketball season which was mirrored in each of its individual games. Pre-season excitement, early leads, and anxious anticipation melted in a conglomeration of air balls, turnovers, and embarrassing losses. Several impressive upsets heightened the excitement of the Ole Miss fans and set the early tone of the season. However, at the opening of SEC play when 6'10" shadows fell across the floor of the Rebel-dome, the tailspin began.

From Weltlich's efforts to ignite the squad with yellow journalism to the team's almost accidental on-the-road win over Georgia, the disillusionment of the Rebel fans deepened. The only overall seasonal excitement for Rebel basketball fans was their hoping that the Rebs' losing score would beat the Danver's point spread and entitle them (the fans) to a free burger or Coke.

However, while coming extremely close in many of its losses, the young squad did show much class and determination in the face of vastly improved SEC opposition. The Rebels did pull through in one close game when standing, screaming fans watched Elston Turner's clutch free-throw surprise the high-nosed heifers from Starkville with a 61-60 defeat.

This happy finale and the optimistic reports from the recruiting realm left loyal Rebel followers with dreams that the roundball program would eventually gain the long-due basketball prominence deserved at Ole Miss.

Plagued with injuries and poor consistency, the Ole Miss basketball team saw its season close with a thrilling upset over Mississippi State. The cross-state rival was not easily downed as the Rebs fought back from a two-point halftime deficit and contained the Bulldog's big men under the goal. Winning 61-60, the Johnny Rebs were able to compensate for the five games lost by three or less points.

The victory came after a three-month campaign led by 6'2" senior guard Joe Kyles (13.9) and 6'7" sophomore forward John Stroud (18.1). The two combined their efforts to lead individual scoring in 23 out of 27 games.

Struggling past a fierce SEC campaign that left a 10-17 mark, the Rebs won only two of their last eleven games. Throughout the season, however, Ole Miss showed great team effort and cooperation under head coach Bob Wetlich. Wetlich's often colorful gestures and remarks were a close second to our Rebelette's halftime routine.

The second-year coach alternated centers using 6'9" junior Kim Benson and 6'8" frosh Norman Miller. Other starters included forwards Stroud and 6'5" frosh Elston Turner (10.0) with the backcourt controlled by guards Kyles and 5'11" junior Henry Jackson (3.5). The other Rebs who saw action were 6'5" frosh forward Chris Barrett (6.6), sophomore guard Tom Warda (5.5), and 6'0" Scott Field (2.3).

Kyle, who was the only four-year man, finished his career with 165 assists. This was the fourth highest assist record in Rebel history. Sophomore John Stroud finished eighth in SEC scoring (18.1) and tenth in SEC rebounding (8.5).

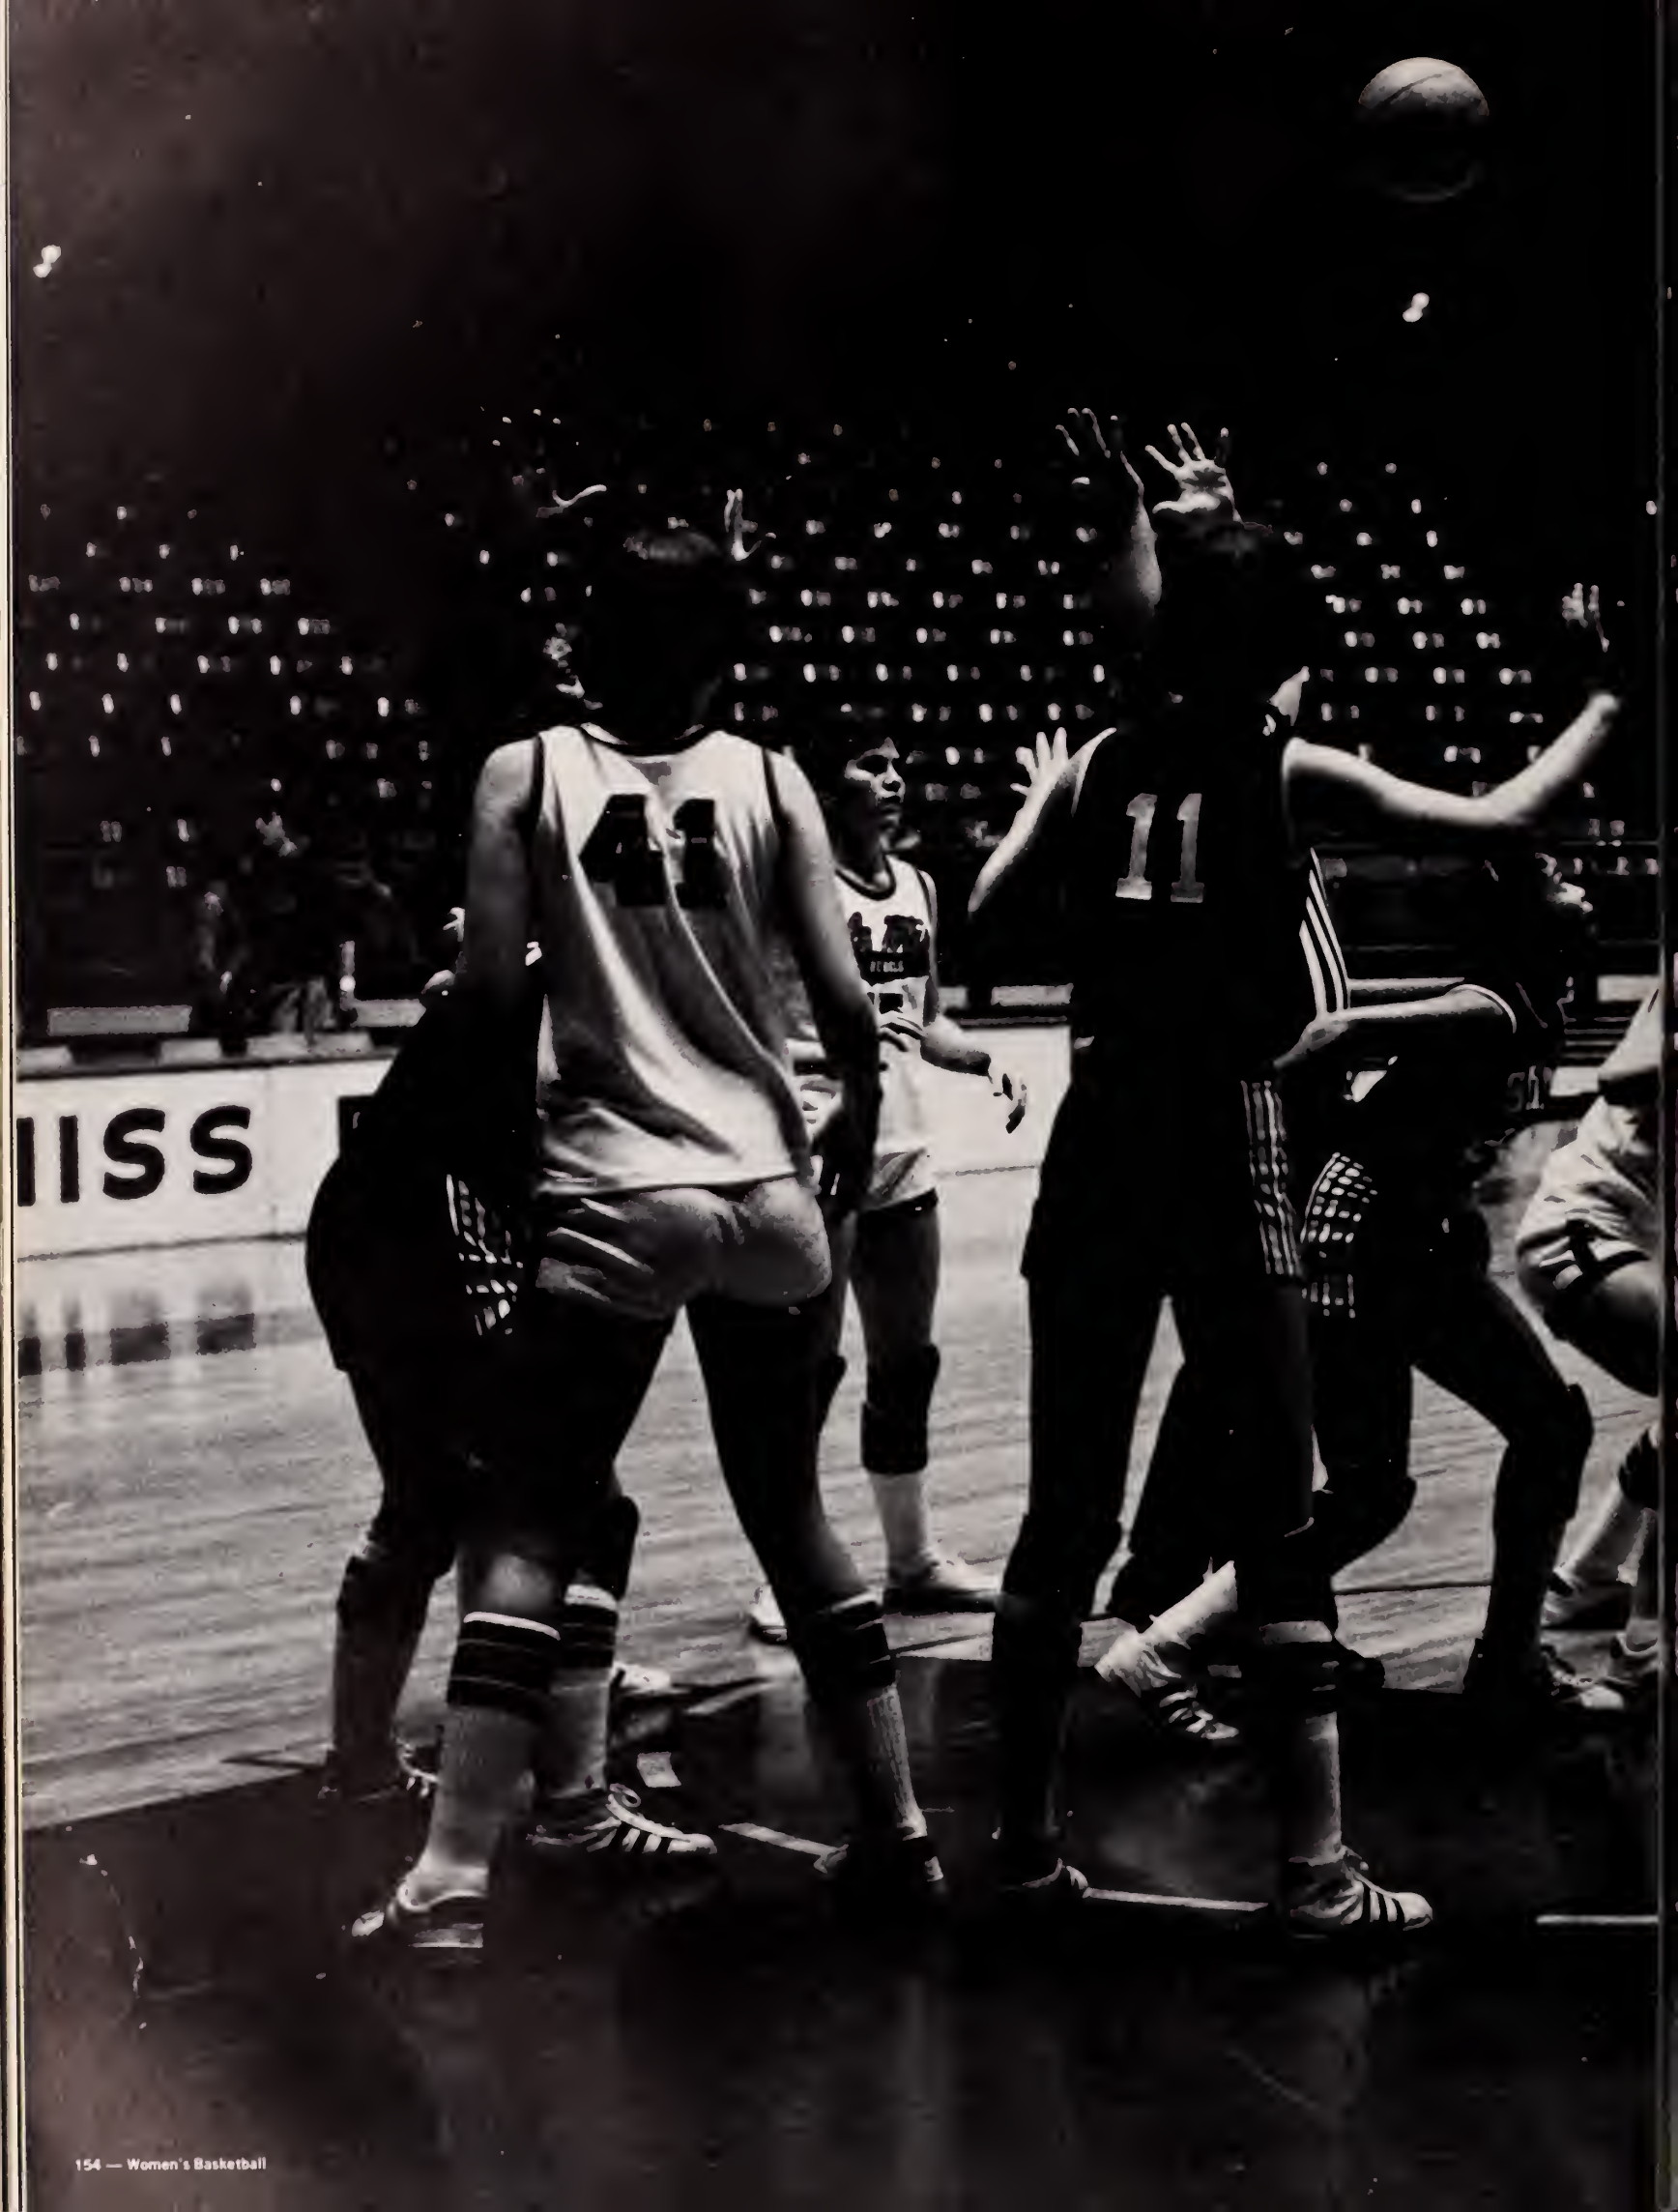

With a good summer of recruiting awaiting them, Bob Wetlich and the Rebs are anticipating a better season than ever.

Women's Basketball

Although the Lady Rebels Basketball Team was ranked sixth among Southern teams when AIAW coaches were polled, events did not at first proceed as the University had hoped. At the beginning of the season the effectiveness of the Lady Rebels seemed doubtful because no player had been found to fully replace Sheila Sullivan and the team's shooting was extremely inconsistent.

After Christmas, however, the athletic picture looked brighter for the Lady Rebels: Cathy Custed was moved to the position of point guard; Glenda Springfield suddenly blossomed into a fine all-around player; Peggy Gillom began to earn her top-ten, Southern-player rank. The most important tangible improvement was in the fact that the Lady Rebels began to win.

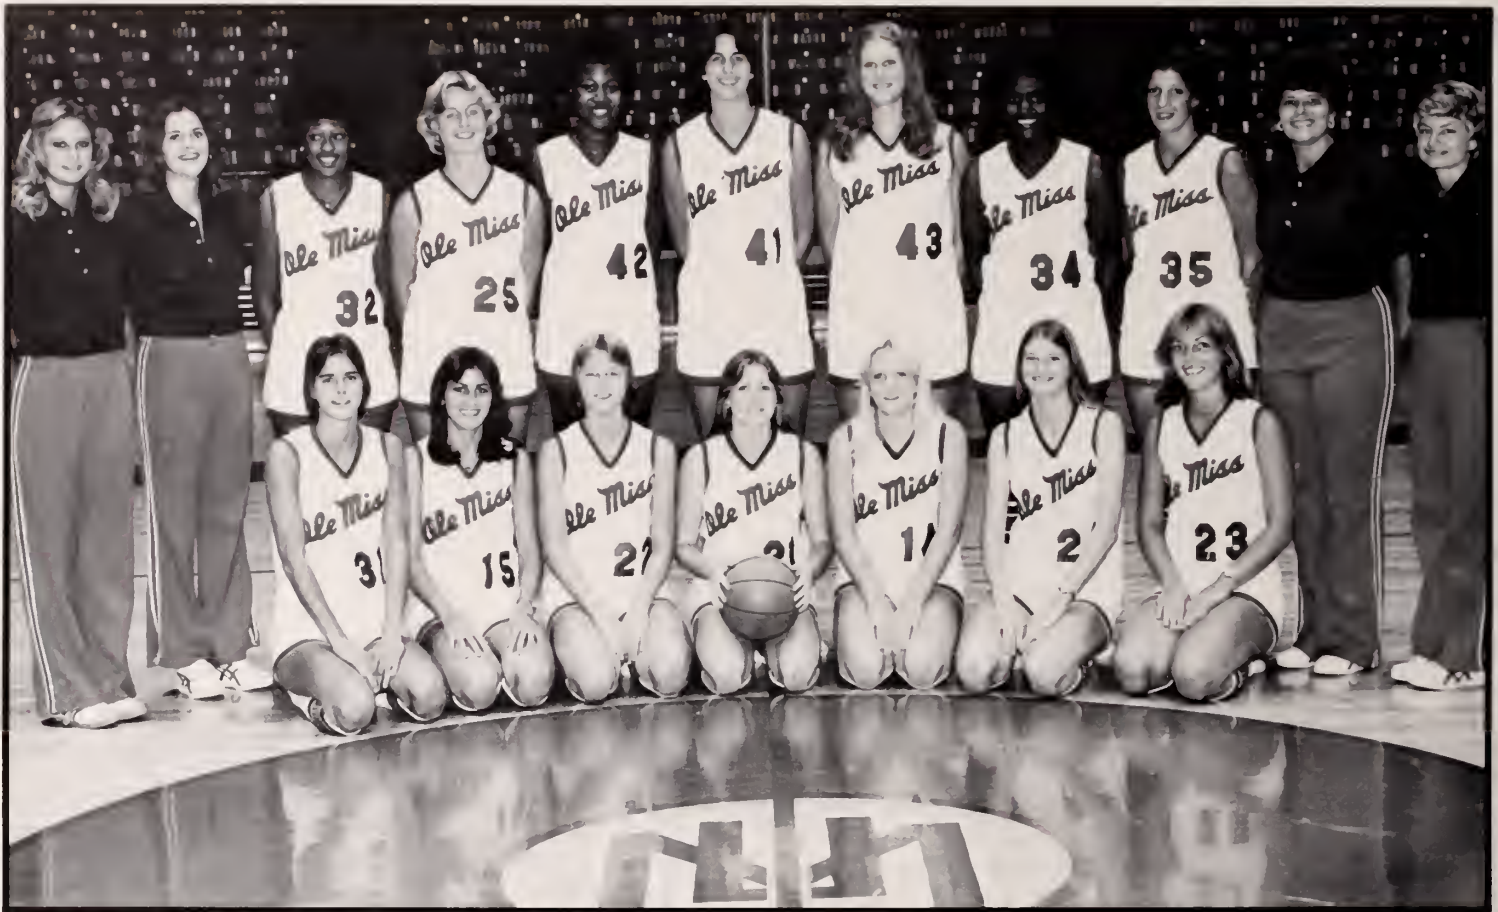

But the excitement resulting from these victories soon turned to disappointment when, after five straight wins, the team began to have difficulty. Because of injury and illness, the Lady Rebs narrowly lost home games to the top three teams in the nation.

Entering the state tournament with a 17-13 record, the Lady Rebels exemplified the old adage "looks can be deceiving." They finished their season with the enthusiasm and confidence needed to win their first state title, become no. 2 in the region, and advance to the national tournament.

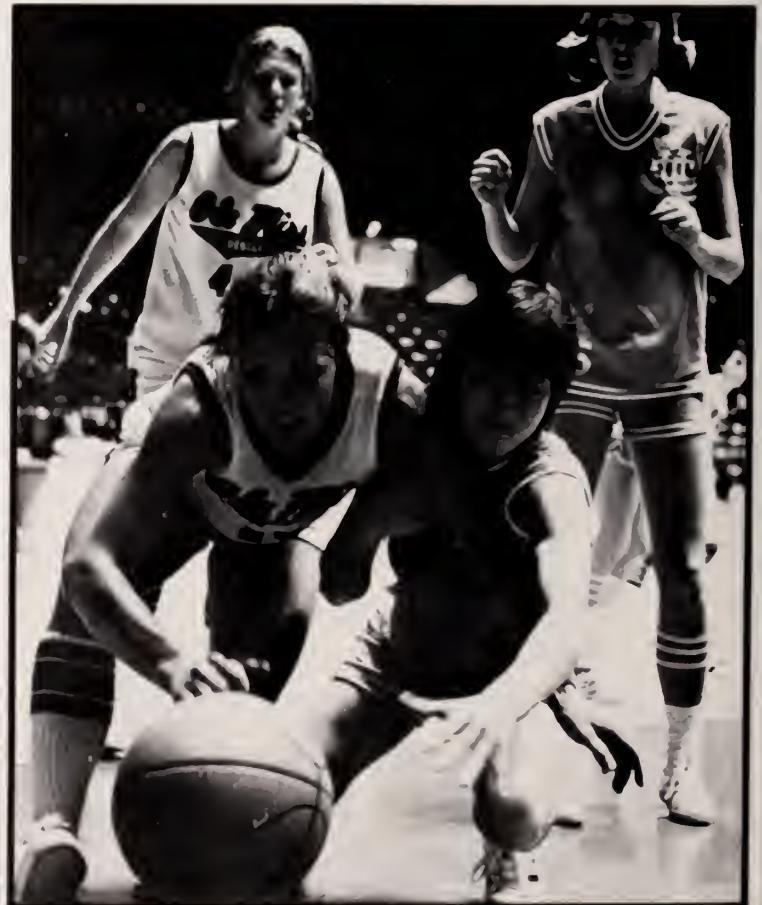

Upon culminating their season proudly, the members of the women's basketball program certainly deserved accolades for their hard work and dedication.

Ladys Take No. 2 in Region

Unheralded for most of the 1977-78 season, the Lady Rebels basketball team gathered new strength and enthusiasm to become the best Ole Miss women's basketball crew ever.

The record-breaking year started slowly because of the team's poor shooting. In addition, first-year head coach Kinn Dunn lacked a replacement for scoring since former basketball star, Sheila Sullivan, had then become her assistant. However, at the beginning of the second semester, 5' 8" sophomore Cathy Casteel filled the position, bringing much improvement for the whole group. Casteel, 5' 7" Glenda Springfield, 6' 0" Peggie Gillom, 5' 6" Jeanie Loyd, and 5' 4" Sandra Wells made up the starting five. Backed by a strong bench consisting of 6' 3" center Mimi Williams, 5' 10" forward Jan Barnett, and 5' 7" guard Carol Ross, the Red and Blue machine was spurred to a 25-15 season.

After a five-game winning streak and marginal losses to the nation's top three teams — Tennessee, LSU, Delta State — the Lady Rebs won 5 of 8 games to reach the state tourney.

Employing its 1-2-2 offense, Ole Miss got to the finals of the tournament held in Cleveland. There they met Delta State who had held the state title for the past four years. With most of the game seesawing by more than five points, Ole Miss clinched the state championship with a last second jump shot performed by Casteel. As the Lady Statesmen suffered their first home court loss in fifty-seven games, the 73-72 Ole Miss victory marked the first state title for the Lady Rebels.

The next week saw the y Rebels grab first place in the Mississippi State Bulldog Classic. Competing with five other SEC teams, Ole Miss defeated arch-rival Mississippi State in the finals with a score of 87-69. This marked the thirteenth consecutive win over State.

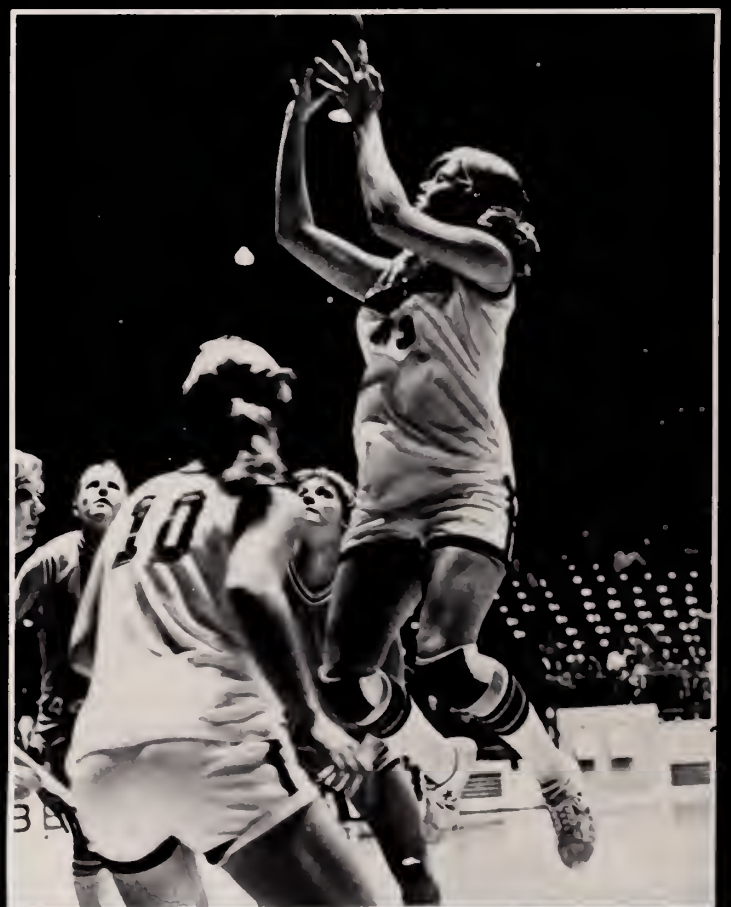

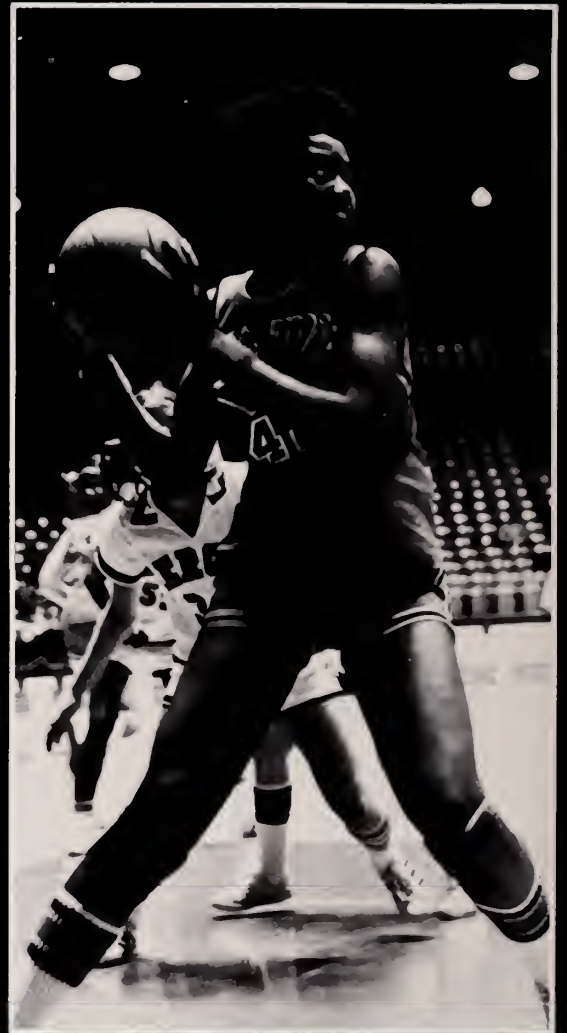

Coach Dunn's squad then earned the runner-up spot in the regional tournament and advanced to the national satellite tournament. Tough competition forced the Lady Rebs to take third place, but they finished among the top twelve teams in the nation.

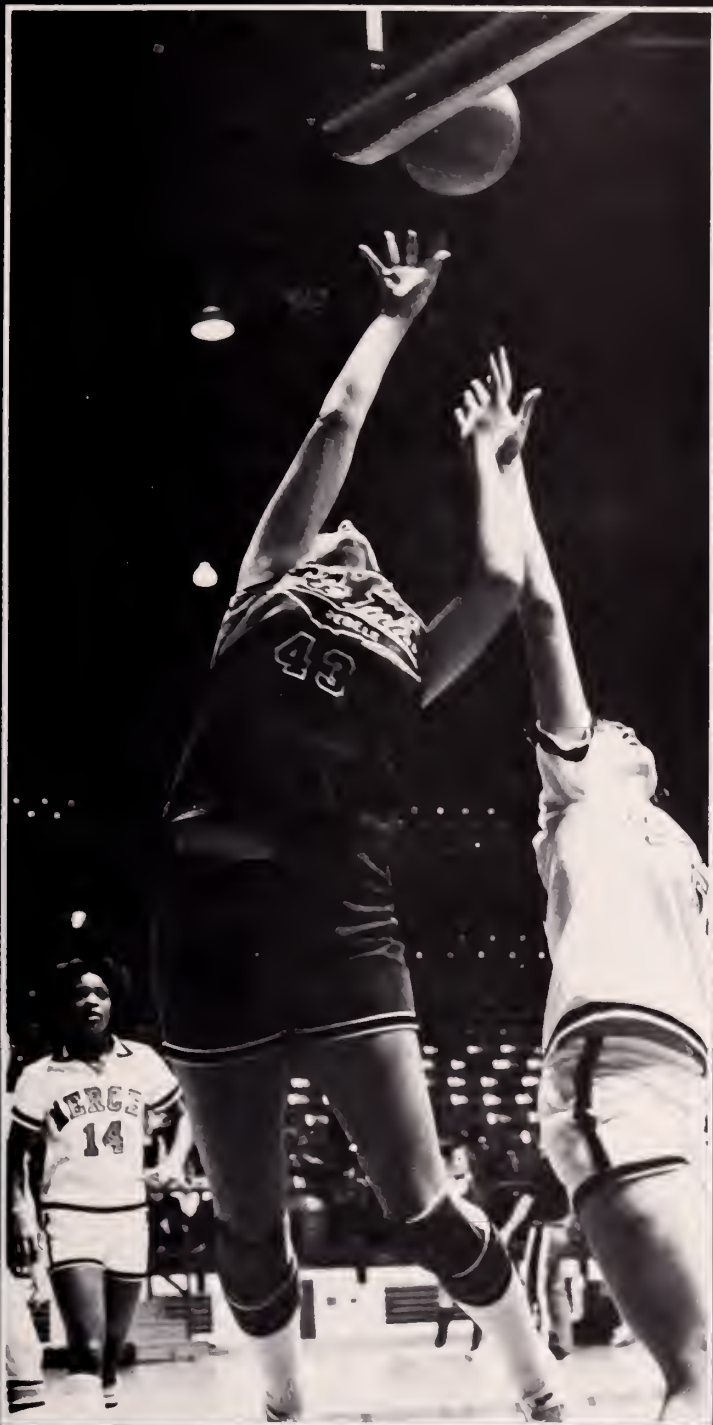

For their efforts throughout the season, the Lady Rebs set forty-nine school records and were given numerous honors. Junior guard Glenda Springfield and Sophomore forward Peggie Gillom were named to the All-Region and All-State teams. Also, Gillom, who led in both team scoring (17.8) and rebounding (8.0), was named to the Bulldog Classic All-Tournament team while Springfield was tapped Most Valuable Player.

Gillom set records for the most points — game (45) and season (686); most field goals — game (21-39) and season (299-550); most rebounds — game (23), season (311), and career (550).

Springfield set a new record for the most assists — season (155) and career (244) while senior guard Sandra Wells set a new record for the most assists in a single game (13).

With only two seniors leaving and a good year of recruiting ahead, Coach Dunn expects her second year as head coach to be just as exciting.

Beginning its fourth year at Ole Miss, the Rugby Football Club is in the process of rebuilding after having lost nine of last year's fifteen starters. Though only a club sport, Rugby offers the members an opportunity to compete with other university and city clubs in the area. However, the club plays teams from this area because limited funds prevent the team's traveling great distances. Anticipating a strong team in the spring, the club plans to participate in the Mardi Gras Tournament in Hammond, La. and the SEC Tournament in Athens, Ga.

The Ole Miss Soccer Club coming off a poor 2-5-2 1976 season had an abrupt turnaround in the 1977 season. They were 5-1 after six games and were ranked fourth in the Mississippi Soccer ratings. Part of its success came with a coaching change. This year, Mike Feuster coached the team with the experience he gained while playing on the University of Kansas team, Big 8 conference runner-up in 1975.

Part of the educational process involves the development of leadership qualities in an individual. The University administration displays leaders for students to emulate, as well as criticize, while the student body itself boasts leaders who constantly bring recognition to the University. By attending committee meetings or by developing a bad case of bloodshot eyes in the library, a student has the chance to become a leader in the area or areas deemed most important by him. Whether a leader spends most of his time in the Lyceum, a fraternity or sorority house, the ASB office, or in the stacks, he has the opportunity to learn to master the art of making decisions.

A Registration

One afternoon in the spring of 1977, you walk into the Registrar's Office in the Lyceum, confused about the rumors you have heard concerning a change in the Ole Miss registration process.

"Excuse me please. Is it correct that there'll be a new registration system this fall?" you query meekly.

"Why, of course. The day of computerized registration is coming, bringing the end to the multi-sited enrollment extravaganza at Ole Miss. Soon with a few swift button pushes, a schedule can be projected, altered, and otherwise contrived in an itemized systemized, and sanitized form on a single concise print-out. Packets will become obsolete. All of this electronic magic will be perpetrated in air-conditioned comfort from a single location in a complex room which is being constructed in the Lyceum basement."

"Yeah, I-uh-see," you mumble in reply to the Lyceum salesperson — rather spokesperson — who fields your question from behind the Registrar's desk. "What in the name of Mamie Franks will they think of next!"

You walk out with your eyes rolling and your mind ablaze with the wonders of automated administration, the theory of relativity, and the other details purported by the gentleman. But at least it serves to keep your knees from knocking when you realize that there'll be no pre-registration whatsoever.

August, 1977, arrives and with it comes registration, temperatures hot enough to melt your new Class Catalog, and news that the computers are not ready. "Good-ole" packets were definitely back for that registration.

The panorama is familiar on registration morning as you arrive at the scene — the sun rising over the Coliseum, poster paper placards directing you to tables and stations that are nowhere to be found in Lafayette County, and a line that encircles the Coliseum parking lot eight concentric rings. Wiping your brow and rolling up your sleeves, you assume your station at the end of the line.

Later, much later, upon entering the Coliseum concourse, you find yourself gazing at a sign inviting you to "pick up your packets here."

You approach the sweet young thing manning the table flanked by towering filing cabinet drawers of attractive battleship gray and swelling with packets.

"Name please . . ." she asks.

"Uh, Alphonse," you reply.

"No, last name," she persists.

"That is my last name."

"Oh, I see," she says as she begins leafing through the drawers.

"Hmm, are you a transfer student, Mr. Alphonse?" she queries.

"No."

"A drop-out returning to school?"

"No."

"Perhaps, a law student, senior, or special registrant?"

You reply in three respective no's and add, "I'm just a regular guy. I've got my Izod and my khakis you know. So can I please register now?"

"Your packet has obviously been lost," she replies in a tone so routine that it makes your knees buckle.

Odyssey

"Uh, well, what does that mean for me?" you groan weakly from your new position on the floor.

"Well, it means you'll have to go to the Lyceum and have another processed."

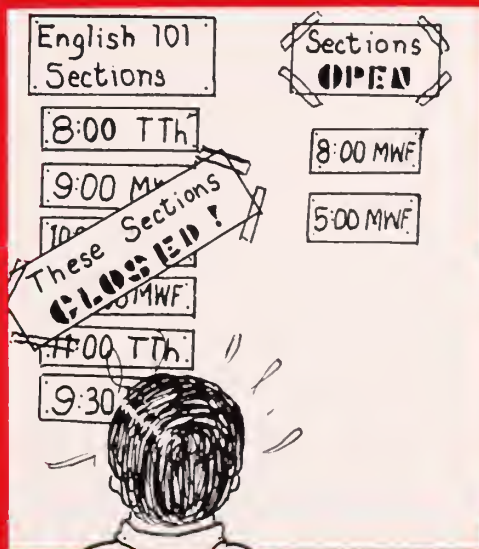

Undaunted, you set out. Two hours, four secretaries, and an academic dean later, you're back in the Coliseum and picking up momentum. You quickly are processed through three clearing tables. Gaining confidence, you capably handle the potential disasters of a spindled number three card, and a skipped digit on your number four; but you come to a trembling halt when directed towards your next encounter: the dreaded bout for class cards.

You pause first and take a deep breath, trying to force that first step through the designated portal leading to the Coliseum arena. With your hands shaking enough to re-shuffle all the cards in your packet, you proceed. You grimace as "section closed" signs blacken the walls.

Then suddenly you emerge through the portal and all of Ole Miss is assembled en masse below you in a scene Cecil B. DeMille would have been proud of. You grit your teeth and plow into the cast of thousands.

Two hours and fifty-five minutes later, it's over. You emerge haggard, yet finished; your picturesque schedule, once resplendent with nine, ten, and eleven o'clock classes, now reduced to straight eight o'clocks and five o'clocks on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.

As you trudge away under the night sky from the Coliseum, the dull throbbing pain in your check-book is a grim reminder of the registration finale. However, your newly acquired tranquility is broken as you sigh, "Oh, no, only five more months till second semester registration!"

Running as "the working man's candidate," Cliff Finch was elected in the fall of 1975 as Mississippi's fifty-seventh governor. His election was the first time since 1890 that the Mississippi working black population and the rural whites joined forces in a campaign for the same cause. This combination of effort was furthered by the fact that he ran for governor on the theme that he would help both the black and white populations. Since his inauguration, Governor Finch has also worked for unification on other lines by uniting the Loyalists and Regulars into one Democratic Party for the state of Mississippi.

A graduate of the University of Mississippi undergraduate and law schools, Finch has four children — two of whom (Ann and Janet) are students at the University. His home is Batesville, Mississippi, located in Panola County where he was a successful damage-suit lawyer at the time of his election as governor.

Governor Finch's political career began while he was a student at Ole Miss when he ran unsuccessfully for Associated Student Body President. It seems, however, that the unsuccessful Ole Miss ASB candidates traditionally become leaders in state politics. Finch was a representative from Panola County in the Mississippi Legislature from 1960 to 1964 and was also District Attorney for Northwest Mississippi from 1964 to 1972. In 1972 he ran unsuccessfully for lieutenant governor.

Showing a concern for the youth of the state, Governor Finch appointed a 28 year-old to the Board of Trustees, marking the first time that a person under the age of thirty had been appointed to that position. For years, student body presidents have pushed for such an appointment. He has also begun a program of visiting college campuses on a regular basis to remain close to the needs and opinions of students. (The Governor spoke on the University campus during October upon the invitation of the Committee of 82.) A plus for Finch's administration has been the fact that since he has been Governor, Mississippi has moved from 50th to 3rd place in the nation as far as percentage of growth within states is concerned.

According to Steve Guyton, a Finch campaign worker and a representative for the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board, "Governor Finch has the ability to bring people of different backgrounds and philosophies together for the common goal — to provide better paying jobs for Mississippians." Guyton added that while helping oppressed minorities, Finch has not forgotten the majority white blue-collar workers nor the student.

Ole Miss's Fortune

Conducting shuttle diplomacy with the legislature, placating division heads and alumni, and attending copious committee meetings are a few of the activities faced by the Chancellor. The man, Porter L. Fortune, Jr., adds that though these duties are exacting and demanding, he still tries to salvage a little time for maintaining his garden at the Chancellor's residence.

"It's an interest that's well-suited to my schedule," says Fortune. "I can work on it in the small bit of free time I have and especially when I'm here at the University during the summer. I used to try to keep up a respectable golf game, but only my gardening and outside reading and writing remain."

Dr. Fortune underwent major heart surgery in May, 1977; however, his workload is once again full. "Though I was away for about two months as a result of complications encountered, I'm in fine health now, and have resumed all my duties, though the doctors still limit my traveling."

As for the health of the University, the Chancellor believes that Ole Miss has had a great year. "The legislature has been most generous to us this year, especially in the area of pay increases for our faculty. Our new Law and Chemistry buildings will be opening up this year and a modern Physics building and Gymnasium/Physical Education building have been approved and await funding," Fortune commented.

The year was productive in yet another way as Dr. Fortune brought honor to himself and further honor to Ole Miss upon his being presented the John R. Evans National Award for Free Student Press.

Taking office as the University's twenty-first chief executive in January, 1968, Chancellor Fortune completes his first decade of service. 'The years of good fortune' are seen as growth, progress, and enrichment in all aspects of the University. With that warm smile, hearty handshake, and great concern for all, Chancellor Fortune is and always will be a special part of Ole Miss.

The New No. II

On July 1, 1977, the School of Business surrendered to the Lyceum its most recent recipient of the Outstanding Teacher Award Lyceum, as Dr. Harvey Lewis assumed the position of Vice Chancellor.

As Vice Chancellor, Dr. Lewis has supervision over the academic division of the University, including all of the schools and their respective bureaus and departments. Along with this continuing organizational responsibility, Lewis will be beset with such specifics as faculty salary details, funds allocations, and spiralling University utility costs as well as many other circumstances.

In considering his new role, Lewis is acutely aware of the need for planning in all phases of University operation, especially in the financial sphere. Lewis's background as an instructor of Money and Banking should help him meet this demand. "I've been quite happy teaching," Lewis said, "but there's always something challenging in administrative work." This blend of administrative and academic insight is one of the most unique assets that Dr. Harvey Lewis can contribute to his new post.

Changing of the Guard

January 31, 1978, saw the end of an era that began in January of 1947. It was in 1947 that John Howard Vaught began a service career to Ole Miss that has transversed thirty years and encompassed a stellar head coaching career and a vigorous athletic directorship.

Vaught and his football teams, being energetic and innovative, pioneered in imaginative grid-iron warfare en route to a national championship, six Southeastern Conference titles, eighteen bowl games, and an incredible 190-61-12 ledger. As Athletic Director, Johnny Vaught used innovation and energy in insuring Rebel solidarity in all sports. Faithful Rebels can certainly discern vast strides that Ole Miss has made in achieving a complete sports program. Notably important has been the Rebels' rise to respectability in basketball, the garnering of the Southeastern Conference gold en route to a baseball championship, and the rapid and diverse expansion of women's athletics. Coach Vaught brought further honor to the University and himself when he was honored by the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

A landmark of the Vaught era was the continued involvement of his Rebel Athletes in his program after their graduation. Thus, it is only fitting that one of Johnny Vaught's most celebrated Rebels is assuming his chair.

Warner Alford captained Vaught's 1960 National Championship team and returned to serve the Rebel sports program as assistant athletic director. His seventeen-year involvement in inter-collegiate athletics, coupled with the part he has played in creating and participating in Rebel tradition, puts him in excellent stead to direct Rebel athletics.

Founded in 1848, the College of Liberal Arts is the oldest and largest division of the University. Headed by Dean Gerald Walton, it offers a broad and comprehensive course of study including most areas of knowledge in the humanities, the fine arts, and the biological, physical, and social sciences. Students seeking a general education may acquire intellectual and civic competence; lay the broad foundation needed for specialized training in law, medicine, theology, and other professional fields; and prepare themselves for advanced study, research, and teaching in the humanities, fine arts, and sciences.

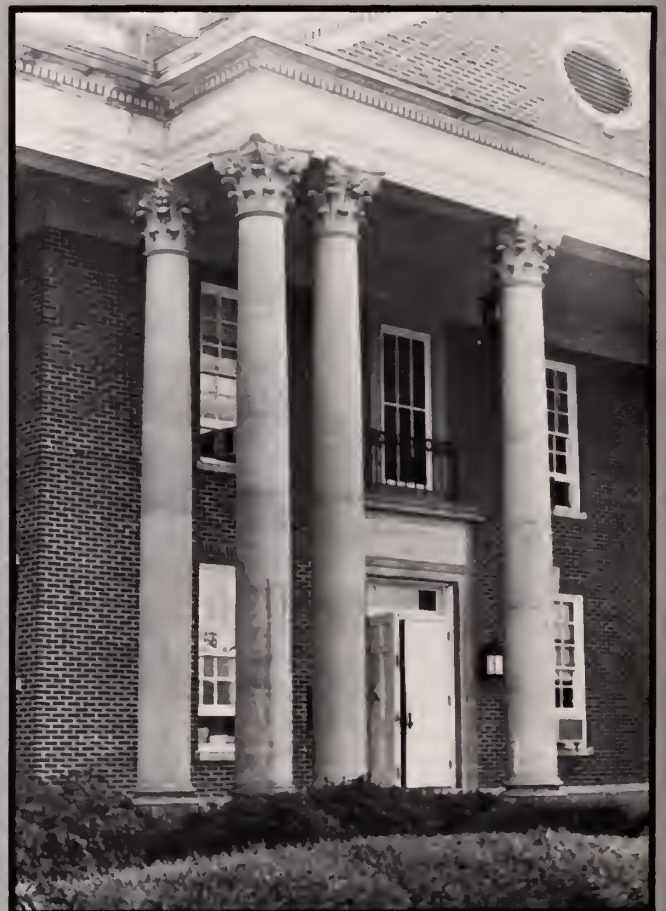

The College offers the Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in any of approximately thirty fields.

Since its inception in 1917 when it was located in the Lyceum and known as the School of Commerce, the School of Business Administration has provided the courses and curriculum necessary for students to cope with business in the light of today's social and economic upheavals.

Since 1967, Dean Ben B. McNew has provided academic and administrative coordination so that enrollment in the School of Business ranks among the highest of academic schools on campus. The School of Business has recently begun participating in the Cooperative Education Program administered by the University.

Expansion into the Co-op Program is simply one of the innovative programs the School of Business has implemented.

School of Engineering

Founded in 1900, the School of Engineering is the third oldest school of the University and the oldest engineering school in the state. The programs offered stress the engineering sciences and are based on concepts rather than on current technology. These programs serve the state and the nation in five basic engineering fields: chemical, civil, electrical, geological, and mechanical as well as in the field of computer science. Headed by Dean Karl Benkert, Jr., the School of Engineering continues to enhance greater learning at Ole Miss.

Dr. Wallace Guess chairs the School of Pharmacy which was created by the Board of Trustees on July 1, 1908. The purpose of the School is to provide thorough instruction for students who desire to acquire the special education and training necessary for the successful practice of pharmacy.

The School of Pharmacy is headquartered in Faser Hall. Its classrooms, laboratories, and facilities form only one unit of the Science Center.

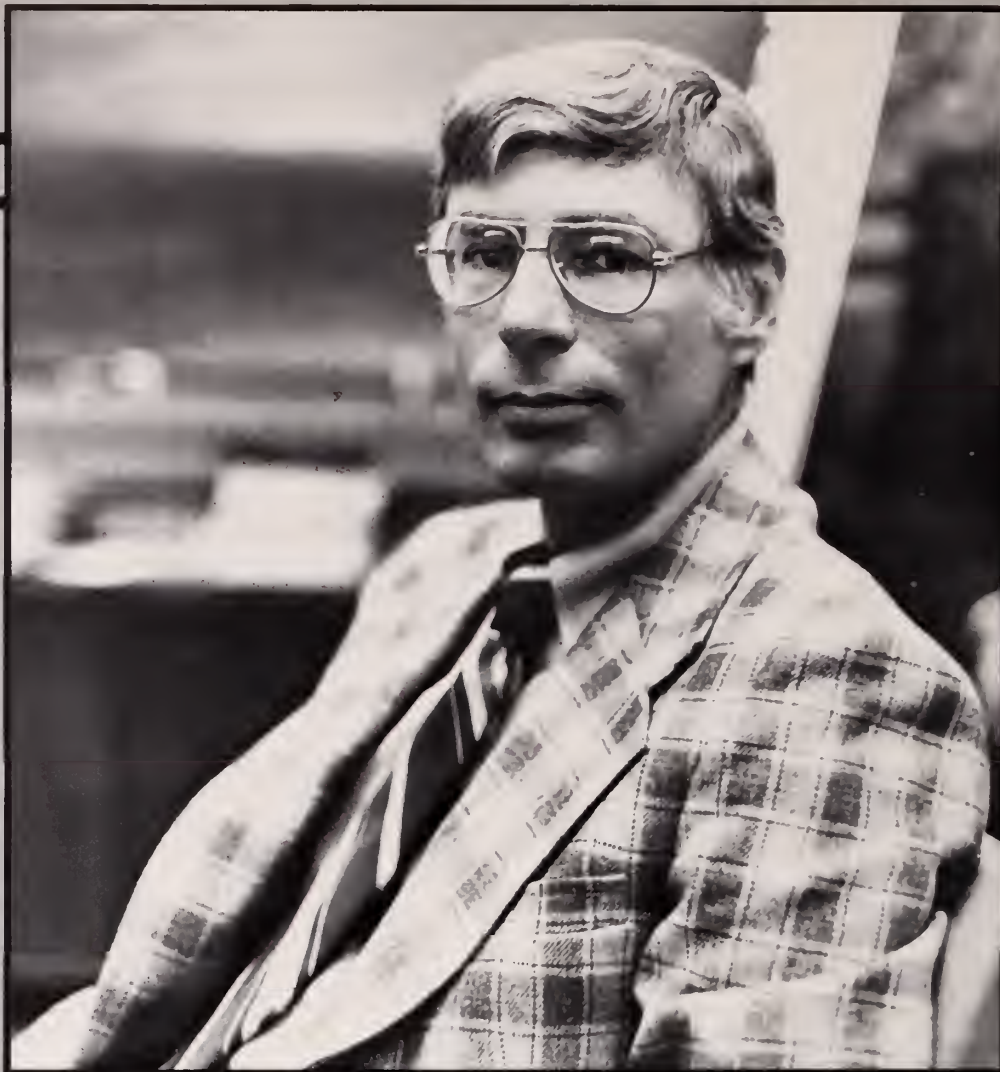

School of Law

The 1977-78 year brought change for the fourth oldest state-supported law school in the nation. The tradition and heritage that is the hallmark of the Ole Miss Law School will be practiced in a new locale as the Law School moves into the spacious Lamar Law Center.

An innovative and comprehensive program is the end product of Dean Parham Williams and his associated professors. So effective is the law curriculum that the state of Mississippi still recognizes an Ole Miss degree-holder as so proficient that he may practice in the state without further examination.

In a year that has seen expansive enrollment, especially in the number of women and minority students, the University of Mississippi Law School resolutely strives toward its goal of instilling in students the method and motivation for the responsible practice of law.

Created in June 1903, the School of Medicine was located at Oxford until 1955 when the University Medical Center at Jackson was completed. The School of Medicine offers the Doctor of Medicine degree and a combined M.D.-Ph.D. degree. The four year course leading to the Doctor of Medicine degree is approved by the American Medical Association and the Association of American Medical Colleges.

Courses at the graduate level were first offered in 1870, and in that year a comprehensive examination as a requirement for the master's degree was also established. The Graduate School was formally organized in 1927 to coordinate and administer graduate study. The Graduate School holds membership in the Council of Graduate Schools of the United States.

Established in 1976, the Graduate School of Library and Information Science is the newest division of the University. The Master of Library Science degree program provides the basic knowledge, philosophy, and skills necessary for professional careers in academic, school, public, and special librarianship.

The School of Education, established in 1903, performs the functions of preparing public school personnel and promoting the improvement of educational programs and facilities. Professional courses offered at both the undergraduate and graduate levels of study provide opportunity for pre-service and in-service teacher education.

Innovative standards have been a consistent part of the program administered by Dean Sylvester Moorhead. Under his continuing leadership the School of Education has diversified to meet the many and varied needs of contemporary education, embodying its goal of rearing quality educators and service personnel through continuous development, evaluation, and implementation.

The governing body for the sororities on campus, the Ole Miss Panhellenic Council works toward the advancement and unification of all member sororities. "While striving for our common and individual goals, we try to promote better relations among sororities," explained President Lisa Roberts.

One of the major functions of Panhellenic is that of conducting and overseeing Formal Rush in the fall. The Council representatives must make sure that all sorority members abide by the Rush rules. "The sororities really do not present any problems. There were no rush violations (this fall) which were prosecuted," Roberts said. Along this same line of fair play and cooperation among sororities, Panhellenic teams up with the Interfraternity Council each year to sponsor Greek Week, a week of fun and activities designed to promote good relations between fraternities and sororities.

Not only does Panhellenic work with sororities and fraternities, they provide services for the community as well. With such projects as giving money and food to the elderly and sponsoring parties for the Ole Miss kindergarten children, the Panhellenic Council adds strength and vitality to the Ole Miss Greek System.

The University of Mississippi Interfraternity Council is the central organization of the social fraternities on the Ole Miss campus. Composed of two representatives from every fraternity, the IFC works toward bettering relations among Greeks. The purpose of the organization is to advance the better interests of the fraternities in connection with the general welfare of the student body as a whole. Another aspect of the IFC is its authority to exercise governmental control over fraternity actions.

The three major yearly projects of the IFC are sponsoring Greek Week in the spring with Panhellenic, conducting Formal Fraternity Rush Week in the fall, and publishing the IFC RUSH BOOK. The IFC also works with the Order of Omega and Panhellenic in having social functions, and grants a scholarship to the IFC Campus Model Pledge amounting to one-half of his sophomore year in state tuition.

During the fall of 1977, the IFC approved the affiliation of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity at Ole Miss. Steps were also taken to clarify for the campus the definition of opened and closed fraternity parties. Because of the increased enrollment at Ole Miss, most fraternities have found it virtually impossible to have parties opened to the entire campus.

Realizing the need for constitutional changes, the IFC made revisions in its laws. (Constitutional amendments had not been made since 1970.) One such change was necessary to relieve problems with fraternity party discipline. This revision included a provision for the levying of an automatic $500 fine for fraternity infraction of University party curfew laws.

This year the IFC increased the publicity of its projects and activities. According to IFC President Darden North, "The Interfraternity Council has steadily built in strength over the years. In comparison with other IFC's in the southeast, we have few problems — partly because the Ole Miss Greek System is so outstanding."

Being a relatively new sorority on campus, Alpha Delta Pi has firmly established itself at Ole Miss. Residing in a modern-type home, the girls of ADPi are proud of their heritage. Founded in 1851 at Wesleyan College, ADPi was established at Ole Miss 110 years later. The sorority's colors are azure blue and white and the flower is the woodland violet. During the year of the 1978 Ole Miss, ADPi's were active as fraternity sweethearts, fraternity little sisters, and ROTC sponsors. Alpha Lambda Delta, Lambda Sigma, Mortar Board, Phi Kappa Phi, Committee of 82, and Committee of 100 also included ADPi's.

Last spring, an ADPi earned a Taylor Medal in Banking and Finance while another served as Panhellenic Vice-President. The 1977 U.S. Angus Queen is an ADPi while another girl reigned as Queen of the Knights of Babylon in New Orleans.

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Incorporated, celebrated its 70th birthday on January 15, 1978. The organization was founded at Harvard University in Washington, D.C., in 1908. It was the first Greek-letter organization for black women and was formed around the principles of scholarship, leadership, and friendship. More than 75,000 AKA's in 500 chapters located within the continental United States and abroad observe the sorority's motto, "Service to all mankind," and its symbol, the pink tea rose. Theta Psi Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority was chartered at the University of Mississippi on May 12, 1974, bringing to the campus its colors of salmon pink and apple green. At the time, twelve young women formed the nucleus of the growing chapter. Since the chapter was begun at Ole Miss, thirty-seven young ladies have been added to the Alpha Kappa Alpha population. The members of Theta Psi have always strived to uphold the aims and targets of the national organization, making it supreme in "service to all mankind."

Nu Beta Chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi was colonized on the Ole Miss campus in the spring of 1957 and was installed as a collegiate chapter in February of 1958. Since the founding at Barnard College of Columbia University in 1897, the Jacqueminot rose and the cardinal color have been symbols of Alpha Omicron Pi's lasting friendship. During the year, this friendship was well-known throughout Ole Miss as AOPi's took prominent roles in all phases of campus life — the Vice-President of the ASB, who also served as President of the Senate, was an AOPi as were the head of the School Spirit committee and the Parliamentarian of the Senate. AOPi boasted of having a member in the 1977-78 Hall of Fame, one in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, two in top-20 Best-Dressed, and three campus senators. The Student Advisory Committee and the Committees of 100 and 82 had AOPi delegates, as did the Recruitment Committee and Union Program Council. With a newly redecorated house and a long list of achievements, it is easy to see why the women of Alpha Omicron Pi bore the red rose with such dignity and pride.

Alpha Tau Omega, founded by three Confederate soldiers at Richmond, Virginia, in 1865, was installed at Ole Miss in February of 1927. In the fifty years that have followed, ATO's have exhibited leadership qualities while striving for the high ideal of true brotherhood.

In 1977-78, Mississippi Delta Psi Chapter of ATO became involved with all facets of Ole Miss life, with members in Phi Eta Sigma, Lambda Sigma, Beta Alpha Psi, Sigma Tau Delta, Alpha Epsilon Delta, Order of Omega, and Omicron Delta Kappa. IFC Rush Book Co-Editor, IFC Corresponding Secretary, Chairman of the College Republicans, Chairman of Refrigerator Rentals, Co-Chairman of Dixie Week, ASB Deputy Attorney General, Vice-President of Intramural Council, ASB Executive Assistant, and head cheerleader were all ATO's. Members on the Committees of 100 and 82 worked for religious life and lobbied for the University. In addition, ATO had two members picked by sororities as their "man-of-the-year," while others worked on the DAILY MISSISSIPPIAN and OLE MISS staffs.

ATO can look back on a half-century of Ole Miss tradition and ahead to the promise of an immeasurable future.

On August 8, 1839, the sparkle of the Beta Theta Pi Diamond first appeared on the campus of Miami University in Oxford, Ohio. Beta Theta Pi is the oldest social fraternity to be founded as such and was the first member of the famed "Miami Triad." The Diamond's rays fell on the University of Mississippi's campus in 1879, when members of the now-extinct Mystic Seven were incorporated into Beta Theta Pi. Since then the diamond has been carried into every phase of campus activities by fraternal brothers and leaders. Betas boast an outstanding intramural record, as well as an impressive list of activities and honoraries. Betas played prominent roles in such organizations as the ASB Elections Commission, ODK, and the Committes of 100 and 82. The DAILY MISSISSIPPIAN staff, Phi Eta Sigma, University concert and marching bands, and such honoraries as AED, Pi Sigma Epsilon, and Sigma Tau Delta had Beta members. Whatever the occasion, the brothers of Beta Theta Pi took an active part. Through their involvement and leadership, Betas have provided an example for others to admire and follow.

Chi Psi National Fraternity was founded on May 20, 1841, at Union College. Alpha Gamma Chapter re-emerged on the Ole Miss campus March 21, 1970, after originally establishing here in 1851. Scholarships ranked high with the Chi Psi's as they had a Jones Scholar, members of Phi Eta Sigma and Phi Kappa Phi, and quite a few members of other scholastic honoraries. Chi Psi's were active in the Committees of 100 and 82; on the DAILY MISSISSIPPIAN staff; in the Ole Miss Marching, Concert, and Jazz Bands; and in Omicron Delta Kappa. Chi Psi was the first, and only, fraternity to have Housegirls here at Ole Miss. Also, Chi Psi Sweetheart Cheri Brown was chosen Most Beautiful for 1977-78. Loyal alumni, a beautiful lodge, and a growing, energetic undergraduate chapter made Chi Psi one of the most respected fraternity names at Ole Miss during 1977-78.

Chi Omega and Ole Miss were brought before the eyes of the state when Mary Donnelly was chosen Miss Mississippi for 1977. Of course, Mary had to relinquish her title as Miss University; but another Chi O, first alternate Mona Vaughn, stepped in to take the crown.

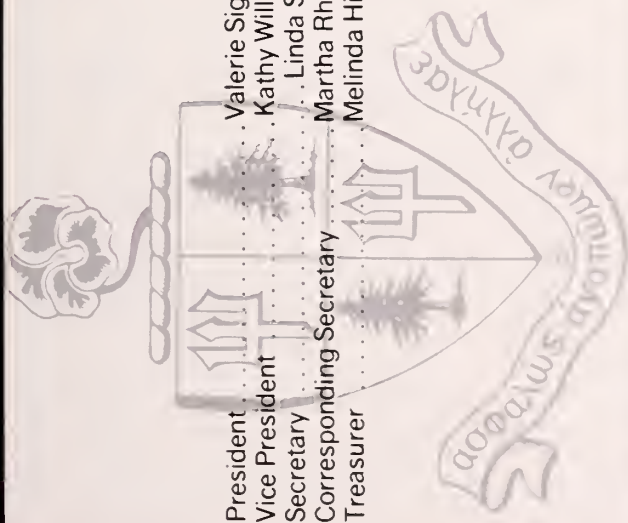

The cardinal and straw worked magic on campus, too, as three Chi O's were chosen for the Homecoming Court, two were top five beauties, and two served as Varsity cheerleaders. Chi O's also boasted of winning the 1977 overall Greek Week and Derby Day trophies. Seven members of the UM Modeling Board, the President of Mortar Board, and this year's Pike Playmate were Chi Omegas, as well as were two fraternity sweethearts, a Taylor Medalist, and Derby Day Queen.

Many honorary societies, such as Mortar Board, Phi Kappa Phi, Lambda Sigma, and the Committees of 100 and 82, claimed Chi O's as their own. In fact Alpha Lambda Delta's president was a Chi Omega.

Whether it be in academics, honoraries, or campus activities, the women of Chi Omega have played a prominent role since the sororities' inception at Ole Miss in 1899.

Ole Miss' Best Dressed on Campus for 1977-78 wore the stars and crescent badge as did five Pike Calender Girls, four fraternity sweethearts, and numerous fraternity little sisters. Tri Delta's high scholarship was boasted by members of Mortar Board, Phi Kappa Phi, Alpha Lambda Delta, and Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Tri Deltas served on the Committees of 100 and 82, in the University Dancers, in the Group, and on the Modeling Squad. Well represented on campus, Delta Gammas were especially proud of their Miss Ole Miss this year. Think of proud heritages and Deke automatically comes to mind. With such prominent alumni as Rutherford B. Hayes, Theodore Roosevelt, and Gerald Ford, the men of Delta Kappa Epsilon have followed this tradition of leadership for over 125 years. Dekes hold positions in many various campus organizations, and actively participate in intramural athletics. Dekes have brothers in several societies such as Sigma Tau Delta and Sigma Delta Chi. Three Dekes this year held Karate black belts. Other Deke activities ranged from University Dancing to being in the Rebel Concert and Marching Bands. Dekes worked on channel 12 TV and WCBH radio and belonged to the Aquatic Club and the Ole Miss Wesley Foundation.

The men of Delta Kappa Epsilon also held their claim to an outstanding social program, culminating it this year with their "World War III" party.

In every aspect of life, Dekes always exhibit strong ties of brotherhood. They feel that most important to them in their fraternity life is an inexplicable sense of pride that they live and work together as brothers of Delta Kappa Epsilon.

University of Mississippi

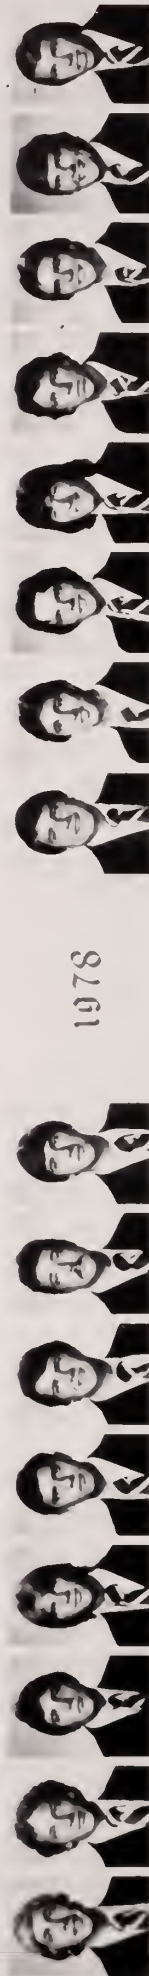

One of the oldest fraternities at Ole Miss, Phi Chapter of Delta Psi was the first fraternity to build a house in Mississippi. Even though they are an extremely secretive organization, the men of St. Anthony Hall do release the date of their founding (1847) at Columbia University and the names of their chapter colors (azure blue and gold). Delta Psi's have started their own tradition at Ole Miss — that of consistently producing an outstanding Homecoming display in their front yard. This year the chapter placed first in the fraternity division and in the overall competition. In intramural sports, the chapter led the small fraternity division in softball, swimming, and handball. Although the Delta Psi's will not reveal the names of their officers, they do not hesitate to encourage their members to gain campus recognition. Three Delta Psi's were listed in this year's Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges while others were active in various student committees. A Delta Psi headed the Chapel Fund Committee and Alpha Epsilon Delta Pre-Med honorary. Of course, because of their affinity for the library, Delta Psi's were found in almost every campus honorary during 1977-78.

Kappa Alpha Order was founded at Washington College, now Washington and Lee University, on December 21, 1865. Later, in January of 1900, Alpha Upsilon chapter was established at the University of Mississippi. During 1977-78 the KA's of Ole Miss demonstrated their progressive attitude toward life while possessing a feeling of pride and accomplishment. KA was able to claim three top campus positions: ASB Treasurer, Editor of the 1978 OLE MISS Annual, and Interfraternity Council President. In addition, a member of the 1977-78 Hall of Fame, two members in Who's Who, a varsity cheerleader, the co-chairman of the Committee of 100, three campus senators, and President of the Order of Omega were KA's. Also, KA had large representation in ODK, Order of Omega, Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Eta Sigma, and the Committees of 82 and 100. While boasting of its newly established Southern Belle KA Little Sister Program, the Crimson and Old Gold had reason to be proud of KA Rose Donna Gresham, who was Miss Ole Miss from fall, 1976 to fall, 1977. By working together, the chapter won the overall 1977 Greek Week trophy in the fraternity division and at the same time had one of its freshmen recognized as IFC Campus Model Pledge. KA's progress culminated when, for the second consecutive year, the chapter earned the J. Edgar Hoover Award for chapter excellence — the highest national Kappa Alpha honor a chapter can receive. Academically, socially, politically, and athletically, it is easy to see that the KA's at Ole Miss always aim for the ultimate and achieve it.

Kappa Delta Sorority, founded in Farmville, Virginia, in 1897, was established on the University of Mississippi campus in 1927. In honor of this founding, the KD's celebrated their 50th anniversary in January of 1977. To gain support for their national philanthropy, which is the Crippled Children's Hospital, the Kappa Deltas sold over 14,000 boxes of M&M's. Kappa Delta has been well represented in campus-wide activities this year. As well as having a member of the ASB Cabinet, a campus senator, and President of Panhellenic, KD was also proud to have two Campus Favorites, two members of Who's Who, two Pike calendar girls, a top ten Miss University finalist, and a Cotton Carnival princess. Kappa Deltas also participated in Mortar Board, Alpha Lambda Delta, Lambda Sigma, Committees of 82 and 100, Angel Flight, and the Group.

Kappa Kappa Gamma was founded in 1870 with the colors of light blue and dark blue. Bringing its key to the University in 1947, Kappa Kappa Gamma established Delta Rho Chapter.

Kappa Kappa Gamma has an outstanding record of involvement in both campus and community affairs. Being proud to have ASB Secretary, secretary of the Student Art Association, treasurer of Panhellenic, two ASB executive secretaries, and Mississippi Farm Bureau Queen as members, the Kappas have sisters on the Committee of 100 and in several campus honoraries. Winning third place in the Fall Festival this year, Kappa has chosen St. Jude Hospital and a Girl Scout Troop as philanthropies.

Because of achievements like these, Kappa Kappa Gamma won top honors at the KKG Province Meeting. An outstanding chapter both on campus and in their Province, Kappa Kappa Gamma feels a great sense of pride and determination that characterizes it in one basic way — unstoppable!

Omega — the guiding light

The brothers of Eta Zeta chapter of Omega Psi Phi provided leadership in various aspects of Ole Miss life. Gridiron leaders such as Lawrence Johnson, Fernando Harvey, Johnny Hatch, and Michael Sweet were all members of Omega Psi Phi. Not only did the Ole Miss Omegas actively participate in campus and civic activities; they also held an important position in their fraternity's national organization.. Eta Zeta recently won the honor of representing the entire State of Mississippi in "Greek Stepping" in the Omega Psi Phi district meeting. Also, past president Montona Hubbard was named Omega Psi Phi assistant state representative. On campus and off, in athletics and in organizations, the men of Omega Psi Phi exemplified the true ideals of leadership and brotherhood and provided a valuable service to the community and to the University.

Phi Delta Theta Fraternity was founded on December 26, 1848, at the University of Miami in Oxford, Ohio. Since its establishment at Ole Miss in 1877, Phi Delta Theta has been a noticeable force in every aspect of campus life.

This year, Phi Delta Theta ranked high among fraternities scholastically with a Carrier Scholar, members in Phi Eta Sigma and Phi Kappa Phi, and quite a few members belonging to scholastic honoraries. Phi Delta Theta was proud to have one of its members in the 1977-78 Hall of Fame and in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, while also being Omicron Delta Kappa President. Phi Delta Theta was well represented in the ASB, DAILY MISSISSIPPIAN staff, and OLE MISS annual staff. The Phi Deltas displayed an outstanding record in intramurals and had several members on the varsity tennis team.

The fact that Phi Delta Theta has been recognized by its national office as the most outstanding chapter six times in the past seven years shows that Mississippi Alpha Chapter continues to maintain the standard of excellence on which it was founded.

Phi Psi was active in the ASB with Campus Senators and members of the ASB Recruitment Committee, Parking Committee, and Welcoming Committee. IFC Treasurer was a Phi Psi, as were members of the Committees of 82 and 100, Order of Omega, and ODK. Phi Psi also had members in Phi Eta Sigma and Phi Kappa Phi Scholarships. The 1977 Overall Spirit Trophy went to the Phi Psi's for the second year in a row. Phi Kappa Theta, the fraternity famous for posting semi-obscene sayings on the wooden sign in its front yard, technically came to Ole Miss in 1951. The Phi Kap's consider themselves unique in that their fraternity is the consolidation of two collegiate fraternities: Phi Kappa and Theta Kappa Pi. This merger, accomplished because the two separate fraternities had similar founding ideals and principles, was the first true union of Greek letter societies. This past year the Phi Kappa Theta's participated in all intramural sports competition while they also enjoyed hunting — anything from deer to water fowl. Realizing the need to promote the service aspect of fraternity life, the chapter sponsored activities for underprivileged Oxford children. ROTC, ODK, Phi Kappa Phi, as well as other organizations, claimed Phi Kappa Theta's as members. Each Phi Kap was an individual, but brotherhood united all of them in all of their 1977-78 activities.

Founded at Wesleyan College in Macon, Georgia, in 1852, Phi Mu established residence at Ole Miss in 1925, bringing with her the colors of rose and white, the Enchantress carnation, and the true ideals of Southern womanhood.

This excellence was readily shown by the Ole Miss Phi Mu's during 1977-78 in that they had two members of the 1977-78 Hall of Fame and Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. This year Phi Mu had Most Beautiful, another top five beauty, two Favorites, three members in Top Ten Best Dressed, and six members of the UM Modeling Board (three of whom were officers). Phi Mu's were active in campus affairs with AWS President and National Vice President, four AWS executive members, two UPC committee chairmen, ASB Executive Secretary, Ambassadors, Judicial Council Representative, Mortar Board Vice President, members of the Annual Staff and Daily Mississippi Staff, a cheerleader, Senators, members of Committees of 82 and 100, Pike Calendar Girls, Fraternity Little Sisters, and two Fraternity Sweethearts.

With individual honors such as these, it is easy to see how Phi Mu won the overall spirit award and captured first prize in the Homecoming displays.

Judging from this year, it's clear to all that anytime there's a challenge, anytime there's an honor, anytime there's an opportunity, there's always a Phi Mu ready to take it on.

Pi Phi also boasted of having members in Mortar Board and Alpha Lambda Delta, as well as Rebelettes, fraternity little sisters, and Ole Miss Ambassadors. An ASB executive secretary, special assistant to the ASB President, and a fraternity sweetheart belonged to Pi Beta Phi. The girls of the wine and silver blue were especially proud to have one of their sisters named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Zeta Phi Beta was organized at Howard University on January 16, 1920. It was the idea of the founders that the sorority would reach college women in all parts of the country who were sorority-minded and desired to follow up the ideals of finer womanhood, scholarship, sisterly love, and community service.

The Zetas at Ole Miss choose intelligent women who have high scholastic achievement and who desire to follow the ideals of the sorority.

Although they are a group of women involved in many activities, the women of Zeta Phi Beta assert that their purposes are to give help to the needy and aid to the retarded. This year they adopted a child at the North Mississippi Retardation Center in Oxford and sponsored Halloween, Thanksgiving, and Christmas parties for children at the Retardation Center. In addition, the Zetas have begun a program of visitation to the elderly in a rest home.

Zeta Tau Alpha, the only woman's fraternity chartered by a special act of legislature, was founded at Longwood College at Farmville, Virginia, on October 15, 1898. Gamma Delta chapter — bringing its flower, the white violet, and its colors, steel gray and turquoise blue, to the campus — was chartered at Ole Miss in 1939.

Glancing through the well-filled pages of the Gamma Delta scrapbook, we see a Zeta holding the title of 1977 Miss Memphis and another who was third alternate to Miss University. Ole Miss's 1977 Homecoming Queen was a Zeta, as was the ASB Attorney General. Zetas held positions of leadership in such honoraries as Mortar Board, Alpha Lambda Delta, and Phi Kappa Phi. The past President of Lambda Sigma, the co-chairman of the Ole Miss Ambassadors, and the 1977-78 Symphony Soloist were members of Zeta Tau Alpha. Other prominent positions held by Zetas included Vice President of AWS, a Taylor medalist, and Feature Twirler for the marching band. ZTA can also boast of having had during this year many fraternity little sisters, members in Who's Who, and several Ole Miss Ambassadors.

In most campus activities, the women of Zeta Tau Alpha constantly hold important positions of leadership and set forth a shining example for others to admire and follow.

The Associated Student Body of Ole Miss is an active organization designed to work for the interests of all students. The officers who are elected by the students each spring try to deal effectively with student affairs. Working with the administration and promoting understanding between the faculty and the students top the priority list for the ASB. Student activities provided by the ASB include the very special Dixie Week and Fall Festival, campus pageants, plays, barbecues and parties in the grove, and school spirit promoting activities. Students are serviced by the ASB through refrigerator rentals which in turn make money for the student government. A cafeteria meal-plan and an interest-free student loan service help to reduce monetary problems for the Ole Miss student. Attended by crowds weekly, the ASB film series provides outstanding films. Rap Line is open nine hours a day enabling a student to discuss personal problems or to just find out general information over the phone. The ASB is also involved with the recruitment of new students and then with providing orientation sessions for these new students. Located in the Union the ASB executive office is easily accessible during the hours from ten to five. Understandably, students show great concern for their representation, for the ASB regulates the welfare of the student body.

During the 1977-1978 school year, the major goal achieved by ASB President Billy Crews and his administration was increased involvement of students in the decision-making processes of the University. Through the newly coordinated ASB Speakers Forum, students were given the chance to meet with different state and national political leaders and to become familiar with their political affairs. The Ole Miss student government, along with student leaders from other major universities across the state, has combined its efforts to lobby for the legalization of alcohol on university campuses. Another top priority was the request for voting precincts on campus to replace the present methods of voting — the absentee ballot and a long drive home. This year, because of active student involvement led by the ASB, the University allocated $120,000 for the much needed repair of the student infirmary. A Director of Housing was added to the ASB presidential cabinet to give students a voice in the regulation and development of student housing. Soon, the Ole Miss campus will have a chapel because of the increased student interest created by the ASB during the 1977-1978 year. Always keeping the student interests first, the ASB worked to solve traffic problems, to add 200 available refrigerators, to the refrigerator rentals program, and to survey student ideas.

The Campus Senate of the University of Mississippi is the law making body of the ASB. Comprised of fifty one senators elected from fifteen districts based on residential areas, the Senate's methods of election and its rules are relatively the same as the legislative body of the state of Mississippi. The purpose of the Senate is to add and revise laws to the ASB code and constitution. Appropriation, financing, and review of all ASB moneys is the main concern of the senate. The Ole Miss Senate is respected throughout the state for its active involvement with the issues.

Dorm Councils seek to promote activity

The 1977-1978 dorm councils of the individual dormitories played a much more important role than previously in the residence life of University of Mississippi students. Each hall council was set up to best fit the needs of its residents. By providing more social and educational activities, dormitory officers sought to serve their residents better. Many dorms participated in the annual homecoming display contest and sponsored throughout the year such popular movies as BRIAN'S SONG. Other social functions included hot-dog cookouts and seasonal parties. Residents received special care during finals as many of the dorms provided free morning doughnuts. Political forums were held in the lobbies of residence halls during election times.

Most people saw the major function of the councils to be the resolution of problems which occurred within each dorm. Most councils had a judicial board or some other means to handle disciplinary cases. Members of the dorm councils were expected to help keep noise level low and to plan effective fire-drill procedures. All councils unitedly supported increased security procedures. Women's dormitories heard Police Chief John Tidwell speak on the subject of rape.

UM Modeling Board new at Ole Miss

The University of Mississippi Modeling Board was established this fall by the Association of Women Students. The board is composed of selected Ole Miss coeds representing a variety of majors. Bringing about an awareness of the total aspect of fashion is the main objective of the board. However, other purposes of the organization are to promote a better understanding and awareness of the University and its students, to contribute to the recruiting efforts of the institution, and to promote goodwill.

Through friendship and projects, the Compass Club works as a service organization to aid the University of Mississippi and Oxford communities. The club is a continuation of the high school Anchor Club. Like the Anchor Club, it is also sponsored by the National Pilot Club and the local chapter in Oxford. Members are selected on the basis of scholarship, activities, and service involvement. Compass Club meetings support the formality of parliamentary procedure.

Projects for the 1977-1978 school year included Meals on Wheels, Chapel Fund Drive, Regional Blood Drive, and retirement home activities.

Jr. Panhellenic governs Greek female pledges

Junior Panhellenic improves the Greek system through promoting better relations between sorority pledge classes. Modeled after the Panhellenic Council, each sorority has two representatives on the Council. The group sponsors service projects often in conjunction with both the Panhellenic and the Interfraternity Councils. The main purpose of Junior Panhellenic is to educate new members of sororities about the campus and national levels of the Panhellenic program.

Students saw a major change in the campus newspaper in the fall of 1977. For a more professional and contemporary style, the DAILY MISSISSIPPIAN page size was increased. The only daily college newspaper in Mississippi informed the students and faculty of Ole Miss about campus news and announcements as well as state and national headline stories. During 1977 the DAILY MISSISSIPPIAN received first place honors in a regional contest that included four states: Mississippi, Alabama, Arkansas, and Louisiana.

Yearbook increases coverage of campus events

Assuming a new outlook in the role of a university yearbook, the 1978 OLE MISS annual staff increased the detail of coverage of campus events. By increasing the volume of yearbook copy without sacrificing the number of pictures, the annual staff aimed for a publication befitting a major university. Also special effects and artwork were used to add interest to the book.

The 1978 OLE MISS editorial board was composed of the Editor-in-Chief, Managing Editor, Associate Editor, and Copy Editor. In addition, the Administrative Assistant and Yearbook Secretary aided in running the annual office.

To produce a quality yearbook, a large annual staff is needed. Therefore, assistant section editors were used effectively to ease the strain on the section editors and the editorial board. General staff members were added to help with different sections as needed. In organizing the annual staff, it was realized that in order to perpetuate good yearbook journalism, many students should be trained to eventually take on more responsibility.

Of course, the business staff, composed of the Business Manager, Assistant Business Manager, and Contracts Manager, worked with the financial part of the production of the 1978 OLE MISS.

IMAGES

publishes student talents

Produced twice a year, IMAGES helps to stimulate literary activity at Ole Miss through publishing the works of professional and non-professional authors and artists. While becoming a better quality publication this year, IMAGES was compiled by a larger staff including co-editors who directed its production. By being a more professional literary magazine, IMAGES was successful in 1977-78 in giving students experience in the editing process and in business management.

The AL Key Squadron of Arnold Air Society at Ole Miss is named in honor of AL Key who set the flight endurance record in 1935 in his plane, the "Ole Miss." Members for this service-oriented society are chosen on the basis of grade point average, extra-curricular activities, and leadership ability.

This year Angel Flight sponsored the Mississippi Regional Blood Center's blood drives. "The Pride of the South"

The Ole Miss Rebel Marching Band, "The Pride of the South," provided exciting halftime pageantry and entertainment at the Rebel football games this fall. The Band was led by Drum Majors Duane Walker and James McDaniel.

Besides the 262 strong "Pride of the South," the other university bands included the Symphonic Band, two Concert Bands, three Pep Rally Bands, and three Basketball Bands.

The members of the bands were selected upon audition, representing every school within the University. Dr. Luther M. Snavelly, Jr., is Director of Bands at Ole Miss and Dwayne Sagen is Assistant Director.

Talent adds to halftime entertainment

The "Pride of the South" added much to the 1977 Rebel football games through their spectacular halftime shows with intriguing configurations, colorful flags, twirling batons, and beautiful Rebelettes. Music, such as the themes of the movies, "Rocky" and "Star Wars," gave the band a contemporary sound. However, tradition prevailed as the band aroused Rebel spirit with their rendition of "Dixie."

Jazz Band makes the beat go on

Ole Miss, home of the first college or university sponsored jazz band, is where the beat goes on. Although jazz music is experiencing a national revival, Ole Miss musicians have never lost their touch.

Spring 1977 saw the first Ole Miss "Big Band Reunion" organized by Dr. John McCauley. The reunion was a resounding success bringing home many alumni musicians. The immense success of this reunion has manifested itself in the establishment of a yearly reunion along with mounting interest in the founding of a "Big Band Alumni Association."

Ole Miss Jazz Bands are among the more lively musical organizations in Mississippi. Performances are given at jazz and art festivals, high school tours, and campus concerts. The 1977-1978 Jazz Band Edition featured vocalists Mary Donnelly and Cheri Brown along with the Ole Miss Jazz Quintet.

"The Group"

entertains prospective students

"The Group" is a combination of musically talented men and women students of the University of Mississippi. At the beginning of each fall semester many students audition to become members of this popular organization. Assisting in the recruitment of new students is the primary function of "The Group." The organization's singing, dancing, and smiling faces add entertainment and fun to the "Ole Miss Nights."

Under the direction of Jon S. Johnson, "The Group" entertained for several on-campus functions such as Homecoming, Dixie Week, and the Parade of Beauties Pageant. Composed of about twenty members, these talented students performed song and dance routines that have been popular through the years.

The Group:

“People who get 4.0 GPA’s do play games by taking the right courses and teachers to get all A’s. They take enough courses so that they can drop something they don’t have an A in.”

“The opportunity to be intellectually challenged is present at Ole Miss but is not always taken advantage of. Learning about people and life is what I’ve gotten out of college because Ole Miss is an outstanding place to learn about people.”

Omicron Delta Kappa is a national leadership honor society. It was founded in 1914 at Washington and Lee University on the fundamental principle that leadership of exceptional quality and versatility in college involvement should be not only recognized but also promoted. From its inception, ODK has maintained that representatives in all phases of college life should cooperate in worthwhile endeavor, and that outstanding students, faculty, and administrators should meet on a basis of mutual interest, understanding, and helpfulness. Thus once each semester successful candidates, who must be undergraduate junior or senior students, graduate or professional students, members of the faculty or administration, or alumni are selected for membership. Members are chosen not only on the basis of scholastic achievement, but also for their leadership contributions to the campus and the University community. Five areas of achievement offer the criteria for the evaluation of prospective members. These areas are scholarship, athletics, social and student body activities, publications, and the arts. ODK membership constitutes an obligation and responsibility in citizenship as well as a mark of distinction of the highest order. Each month the circle holds dinner meetings with distinguished guest speakers, and each semester ODK and Mortar Board co-sponsor a Forum Series to bring prominent speakers to the University.

Established originally as a national senior women's honor society, Mortar Board is now one of the highest senior honor groups for both women and men. Tassels, the local chapter, has been an active part of Ole Miss since its founding in 1939.

Mortar Board is a society that challenges the individual and the group to provide thoughtful leadership to the campus and community, to create an environment of effective communication, and to move toward a meaningful goal. The society continues to support the improvement of the status of men and women.

After having been founded at the University of Pittsburgh in 1964, the Order of Omega was established at the University of Mississippi in September, 1968, but was re-activated here in the spring of 1976 under the direction of David Halle. A national leadership honor society for outstanding Greeks, the organization exists to recognize those fraternity men who have attained a high standard of leadership in interfraternity activities, to encourage them to continue to strive toward excellence, and to inspire others to work for similar conspicuous attainment. Working closely with the Interfraternity Council, the Order of Omega brings Greek faculty, alumni, and student members together on a basis of mutual interest, understanding, and helpfulness.

During any one year, the Order of Omega is limited by its constitution to pledging no more than 3% of the total number of regularly enrolled full-time undergraduate fraternity men on the main campus of the University. Order of Omega Rush is conducted during the fall and spring with each fraternity being allowed to nominate Rushees from its active membership.

One of the most dominant aspects of the Order of Omega is its perpetuation of the social concepts of fraternity life. This is accomplished in the spring and fall of each year when the organization hosts a champagne party to which members invite Omega Rushees and guests.

Phi Eta Sigma

Freshman Honor Society

The first chapter of Phi Eta Sigma was founded at the University of Illinois on March 22, 1923, for the sole purpose of encouraging high scholastic attainment among freshman men in institutions of higher learning. In seeking to fulfill this purpose to the highest degree, Phi Eta Sigma chapters sponsor a variety of activities which are designed to be of benefit to the academic population on their campuses. All freshmen who earn a 3.5 or better G.P.A. in their initial semester of academic work or attain an average of 3.5 or better during both semesters of their freshman enrollment are automatically eligible for membership.

Beta Alpha Psi, an organization for outstanding students in accountancy, provides service to both the campus and the community. Through planned professional programs, this honorary endeavors to broaden the views of future professional accountants. Members are chosen according to a 3.0 G.P.A. in accounting and a 3.0 overall. Special conditions apply to graduate students.

Planned activities for service to the community cover a broad range. On Homecoming, Beta Alpha Psi sponsors a reception for Ole Miss alumni and friends. Once a week during the academic year, the organization provides tutoring services for students needing assistance in accounting. A tax assistance program is provided in the spring for university students and employees.

The varied activities of Beta Alpha Psi bring favorable publicity to the University on the national level. The Ole Miss chapter has received recognition on numerous occasions.

Phi Kappa Phi

Scholastic Honorary

The honor society of Phi Kappa Phi was founded in 1897. Originating with a group of students who felt the need of recognizing scholarship in all disciplines, it was soon transformed into a national society by a committee of the presidents of the University of Maine, the University of Tennessee, and Pennsylvania College. The University of Mississippi chapter of Phi Kappa Phi was chartered in May, 1959. To be elected to membership, an undergraduate student must be a senior or a second semester junior having an overall average of not less than 3.7 for juniors and 3.5 for seniors. Graduate students and students in professional schools must have distinguished records placing them among the top few in their class. Faculty and staff members invited to membership must have made a significant contribution to their discipline.

The Rho Chi Society is the national pharmaceutical honor society founded in 1917. The Chi Chapter at the University of Mississippi was chartered in 1937. The fundamental objective of Rho Chi is to promote the advancement of the pharmaceutical sciences through the encouragement and recognition of sound scholastic achievements. Rho Chi also provides for a scholarly fellowship in pharmacy by bringing undergraduate and graduate students and pharmacy faculty members together in a fraternal association. By such means, Rho Chi seeks to increase the awareness of the responsibilities of pharmacy and enhance high ideals in the profession.

Undergraduate students qualify for membership after completion of their seventh semester of the pharmacy curriculum provided they are in the top twenty percent of their class and have maintained at least a 3.00 GPA. Eligible students not only must maintain high scholastic averages but also must demonstrate capacity for leadership and possess high professional standards. Graduate students are eligible for membership after they have completed one full academic year of graduate work provided they meet the qualifications for membership.

The Beta Pi is the national engineering honorary founded in 1885, to recognize the outstanding leaders and scholars among students in all fields of engineering.

There are 176 chapters of this honorary located in engineering schools in this hemisphere. A chapter is awarded to a school after the entire school, including the curriculum and faculty, are given a very vigorous inspection by neighboring chapters and national headquarters.

The Mississippi Beta Chapter at the University of Mississippi is one of the only two chapters in the state of Mississippi. About half of the faculty members in the Ole Miss School of Engineering are alumni members of Tau Beta Pi. They earned their membership as students in chapters from various schools in the United States.

The Beta Chapter strives to promote professionalism and to encourage scholarship among engineering students. Its members initiate projects toward this end and support such work in other student organizations. Most of the members of Tau Beta Pi are officers in other professional organizations. Membership is by invitation and is restricted to juniors and seniors who are near the top of their class scholastically and have shown exemplary character.

The life of the average person includes constant humorous experiences and somewhat sarcastic events which many times bring relief from the pressure of classes and studying. Conversations with peers or trips downtown to patronize local businesses are examples of diversions from routine endeavors. One can soon realize that we are all examples of the "typical" Ole Miss student in that each of us displays at least one characteristic of the collegiate ideal.

Hail to the chief

As ASB President Billy Crews pauses with his Bible after his inauguration, he flashes a "toothy" grin to reporters. It is amazing how much our president and U.S. President Jimmy Carter have in common. Besides resembling each other, they are both from small southern towns and have "folksy" surnames. Although Crews, unlike Carter, lacks a "beer-drinking" brother and a "Playboy" interview, it is rumored that he did try to get his grandmother to join the Peace Corps. When asked if he was converting to the Baptist religion, Crews had no comment.

I promise . . .

Campus politics turns out some interesting candidates. If a "dark horse" enters the race, it takes several days for the campus to get over the shock. These coeds show that the biggest shock came to Ole Miss when Dare Kelly announced her candidacy for ASB President.

Ambition

I just want more

Darden North, IFC President, Order of Omega President, former ASB Vice-President, Editor of the OLE MISS, Campus Senator of the Year (1975-76), and the first Ole Miss member of both ODK and Mortar Board dreams of the day when he will return to Ole Miss to serve as Chancellor. From there — who knows? Governor, Surgeon General, President of the United States, Secretary General of the United Nations, and someday — maybe even Pope Darden I.

All wet

ASB Vice-President Cathy Hirsch is bombarded with water balloons after a rowdy Senate meeting. Hirsch was attacked by a group of dubious senators known as the "Law School Slate" after she made them quit chewing gum while in session. Hirsch instituted the ban after several complaints were made about gum being stuck under tables and chairs and about bubble-popping during the meetings. A compromise allowed the senators to eat Lifesavers, M&M's, and candy bars only if they promised to chew quietly and not leave the wrappers lying around.

If you've got it, flaunt it

You've heard about it; you've seen him wear it; and now you can own it. The all-new Johnny Reeves Collection for spring has just arrived. Never before has a collection of men's clothes caught the spirit of the man it is named for. The sport coat comes with matching plaid or solid pants. For the distinctively different look — the Johnny Reeves Collection — now available at better department stores in orange, green, purple, and yellow.

You've said it all

Early in the school year, the entire campus was shocked by a soft-drink scandal. Certain cola manufacturers were caught placing "out-of-order" signs on rival drink machines to induce the purchase of their own soft drinks. The situation became so bad that machines were damaged or destroyed by competing bottlers. Students reacted by drinking other canned drinks that were not so soft.

Consumption

Pass the salt

New Orleans has its Mardi Gras, Memphis has its Cotton Carnival, and Ole Miss has its Watermelon Festival. The fun-filled frolic sponsored by the Watermelon Growers of Lafayette County consisted of vodka-melon parties, the melon toss and seed-spitting contests, choosing a Melon Queen, and the watermelon pig-out in the Grove. The Chancellor and Mrs. Fortune sponsored a watermelon-roll for underprivileged children on the east lawn of their home, following the U.S. Presidential custom of an Easter egg roll in the spring. The week proved so successful that negotiations are under way for a Rutabaga week some time next fall.

Bottoms up

A popular misconception is making the rounds these days. Many people believe that Ole Miss students drink to excess. Nothing could be further from the truth. Ole Miss students have not drunk in years — at least not since the invention of the funnel.

Wise owl weight watchers

Physical fitness is an important part of any sorority pledge program and the Chi Omegas' program is no exception. Here we see their pledge class during an exercise session of deep knee bends and side-straddle hops designed to work off those delicious calorie-filled breads and desserts. If that doesn't work, more drastic measures will be taken: a $25 fine for every late-night snack ordered from Benzo's, daily weigh-ins before pledge study hall, the establishment of a separate Weight Watcher's chapter at the Chi-O house, and the requirement of Body Contouring 129.

Socialization

Excuse me, my mistake

Last year's Rush was a big event at the Delta Gamma house. Everyone worked hard all week for the good of the sorority until bid day finally arrived. The DG's congregated outside and awaited their pledge class's arrival. They hugged and kissed the former Rushees, but soon realized that they were standing next door greeting the new Phi Mu pledges.

Jaws

Campus leadership honoraries have badges or insignia which distinguish their members from others. ODK has its Greek letter lapel pin, Mortar Board has its graduation cap pin, and Phi Eta Sigma has its watch fob. However, the most unusual ornament is the Order of Omega's alligator pin. The Order's pledges must wear the 'gator on anything from a sweater or shirt to pants, belts, and even socks. After initiation into the Order, the pledge pin is traded in for a badge depicting a polo player.

The best of the best

The Ole Miss male has always wanted the best possible date for a football weekend, and he knows Sorority Row is the place to find that date. What greater feeling could there be than to walk in Hemingway Stadium and have all your friends exclaim, "You have the mule date!" So, when you need a mule (pronounced meahl, mieux or mewl) date, you know who they are. On the left is the mule, and, of course, on the right is the light mule.

Lucy in the sky with diamonds

Fraternities and sororities are always vying for newspaper and television publicity. Social service projects are always a good stunt to get your organization's name in the news. One fraternity recently held a special day on lower education field for schizos, drug freaks, and other weirdos, either living in or just passing through the Oxford area. Over 300 misfits and unwanted attended the event which included a cake walk, an egg toss, and a hundred yard dash. Most of the contestants had left by mid afternoon when they discovered that none of the prizes were drug-related.

Admiration

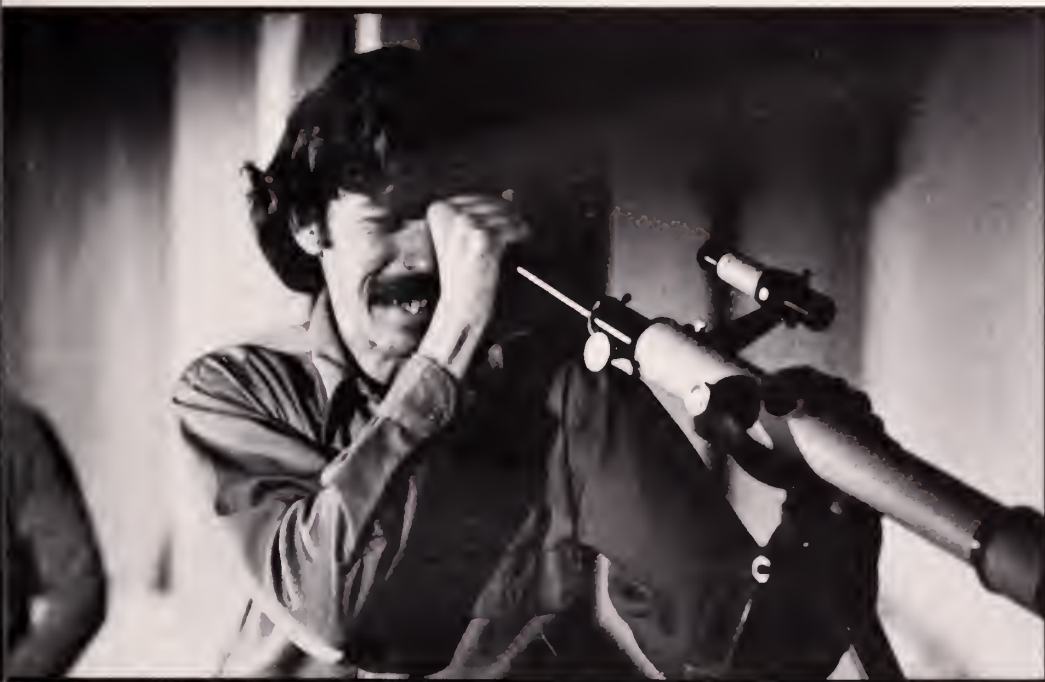

Let's make a deal

It happens every time two men of fame and power get together: Cliff Finch and John Vaught smile broadly, shake hands before the cameras, and, in hushed tones, ask if the other can "fix" a traffic ticket. Then talk turns to more serious matters. "There's no sweat, John, in getting Hemingway Stadium renamed for you, but can you get me named Governor-emeritus?"

Two is company

After almost five years, the energy shortage is still with us. The crisis has given rise to the smaller, more economical automobile with its proportionally smaller back seat. Undaunted by the circumstances, these amorous Ole Miss students have found the solution in a hatch-back model with a fold-down back seat and mattress.

Lookie here

For centuries one of man's favorite pastimes has been girlwatching. The male Ole Miss student is no exception. Hanging around the pool, sitting in the lobby of New Dorm, and cruising Sorority Row are always sure-fire means of catching a glimpse or glimpses of the good-looking girl. Of course, some UM males are inventive in this hobby and employ some unusual means to girlwatch. This astronomy student spies on Miller Dorm sunbathers from the 7th floor of Kincannon, using a 3-inch telescope. Creativity is rewarding!

Practice makes perfect

After 28 years as Doorkeeper of the U.S. House of Representatives, Fishbait Miller exposed the Washington sex scandals as never before. On campus for a recent visit, Fishbait showed the winning Washington style used by Congressmen on secretaries and female constituents. Miller also announced that he has started another exposé on the Ole Miss Administration's love life entitled "The Lyceum: Behind Closed Doors."

Irish luck

Ole Miss Coach Ken Cooper thanks Notre Dame Coach Dan Devine for the invitation to come to the Fighting Irish "Victory Party" following their loss to the Red-and-Blue. Cooper told Devine he couldn't make the gala event because his wife was feeling ill. Actually he didn't think there were enough highway patrolmen in Mississippi to protect him from all the leprechauns wanting to kick him in the shins.

Come on down

Enrollment for 1977-78 rose again at Ole Miss, but this year a strange twist was added. For the first time in recent memory there were more girls than boys on campus. Of course, this suited the guys just fine; however, sometimes many girls went dateless. On one particular Thursday night before Homecoming, the Tri Deltas massed in front of Kincannon for a "jockey-shorts raid" in hopes of finding a date for the big weekend. It is not known how many were successful in their efforts, but Oxford merchants did report increased sales of men's underwear to Towers residents in hopes of a similar incident occurring there.

Competition

Aaaayy!

Kem Coleman exhibits the famous "Fonzy" pose while walking before thousands of Ole Miss fans at the Notre Dame game in Mississippi Memorial Stadium. Coleman, the originator of the pose, sold the rights to the gesture and grin to Henry Winkler who immediately rose to fame using it in the "Happy Days" TV show. Just as "Fonzy" is the coolest of Richie's crowd, Coleman is the coolest of the UM football team. Coleman graciously stepped aside in the Colonel Rebel race to allow George Plasketes and Tim Ellis to run for the title. As he put it, "I wanted it to be a contest, rather than a landslide."

Oh, there she is . . .

History repeated itself in 1977 as another Ole Miss coed, beautiful Mary Donnelly, went on from the Miss University Pageant to win the Miss Mississippi title and represent our state in the Miss America pageant held in Atlantic City, New Jersey. Our photographer caught Mary in one of her more casual moments practicing her song and dance routine in an empty Fulton Chapel. The general consensus on campus is that she would have had a better chance at Miss America if Sam Haskell had sung with her for the national crown.

It's always the thought that counts

Earth Day 1977 erupted with mass demonstrations and protests against the rape of our planet. Huge throngs gathered in the Grove to eat sandwiches from plastic baggies and consume soft drinks from pull-top cans. Earth Day programs included fertilizing campus grassy areas with petroleum-based additives, a motorcade through campus to arouse support for walking to class, and a huge open bonfire to burn the trash collected during the day. Supporters claimed the success of Earth Day 1977 was due to the promotional signs painted on campus trees with aerosol spray cans.

Sometimes you feel like a nut

After six hours of coaxing, an unidentified crazed Ole Miss student finally came down from high in a tree in the Grove. UPD Chief John Tidwell said that the student was sighted climbing the tree early in September but had been left alone until October when he began throwing sticks and nuts at late-night romancers. When asked how the student had remained alive in the tree by himself for so long, Tidwell replied, "He ate a lot of squirrel." The only detail known about the student's background was that he was a pre-med student majoring in chemistry before his untimely lunacy.

Generalization

Accident prone

The spring of 1977 brought comedian Gabe Kaplan to the University of Mississippi campus for a Dixie Week show. Kaplan entertained for more than an hour, but his act was cut short near the end. Faced with a massive audience, Gabe was overcome with stage fright and immediately left the spotlight for the nearest men's room.

It's a dog's life

This year, the Lyceum allowed students to keep pets in their dorm rooms. However, the policy lasted only a short while. Some students resented having to wipe their feet after a walk through the Grove, while others didn't like being mistaken for a fireplug by a German shepherd.

From bad to worse

At the beginning of the fall semester, the inner campus was closed to all student automobiles between 7:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. to ease the parking shortage. Students resorted to walking, skateboards, and even pedal-powered vehicles to get across campus. But this created problems. A perfect example is shown here as these two students race for the last space at the Union's tricycle parking rack.

Conserving Electric Power Makes Sense

Electric power is a valuable resource, and it makes good sense to conserve it. Here are a few easy ways to do that:

- Make sure your home is properly insulated.
- Keep your thermostat at 68° in winter and 78° in summer.
- Use dishwashers and clothes dryers only when you have a full load.
- Conserve hot water.
- Turn off TVs, radios, stereos, and lights when not in use.

A few simple rules, but following them makes good sense. Dollars and cents, too...because these rules help you save money as well as electricity.

Worried about energy?

The all-electric day is dawning. It has to — and soon. Because in a few decades we're going to run out of natural gas and oil. So we must start to put more of our eggs in a different energy basket now. Coal and nuclear generated electricity is our best hope for an energy-abundant future. Depending more on electricity now will mean we can stretch our supplies of gas and oil for essential use in industry. Depending more on coal and nuclear generated electricity and using that electricity efficiently can give us an energy independent future and keep the wheels of our civilization turning.

Depend on electricity.

Yearbook Specifications

The 1978 OLE MISS was produced by the University of Mississippi Yearbook Staff and printed offset on 80 pound Taylor glossy enamel by Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas, Texas, in cooperation with Taylor Representatives Nicky Drake, George Copeland, Nancy Jones, and Jim Alexander. Press run was 7050 copies.

Cover: The cover was designed by Claire Duff and Darden North in association with Jim Alexander of Taylor Publishing Company. Composed of 15 point binder board, the cover material is Shivertex-Malaga 2047, Series 2 with a black over-tone. Both the lid and the spine are blind embossed. Trim size is 9 x 12. On the cover are four hand-applied, maylar-laminated color photographs printed in single-sheet form. Beginning in the upper left-hand corner and preceding clockwise, the cover photographs are identified by the following descriptions (with photographer's name in parentheses): Miss Mississippi Mary Donnelly, victorious after the 1977 Miss Mississippi Pageant in Vicksburg (Joe Savage of Vicksburg, MS); A Rebel tackle of a Notre Dame player during the historic Ole Miss football victory in Jackson's Memorial Stadium (Walt Mixon of Oxford, MS); Dare Kelly and Kenny Watts in Confederate splendor (Walt Mixon of Oxford, MS); 1976-77 Miss Ole Miss Donna Gresham and Kenny Barraza in a field of wild flowers outside of Oxford (Walt Mixon of Oxford, MS).

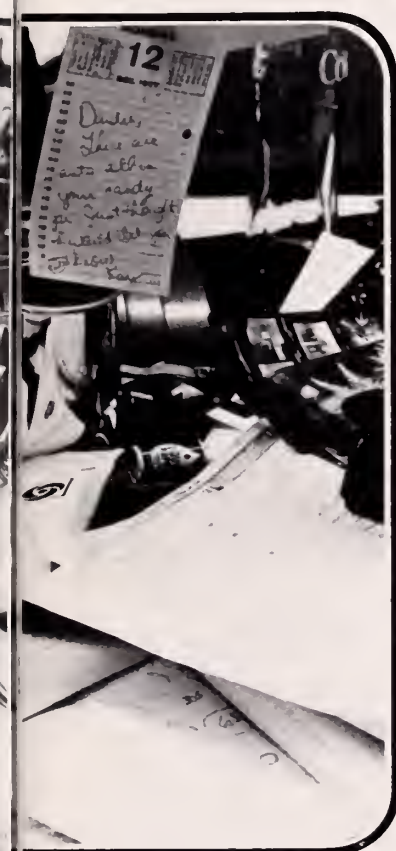

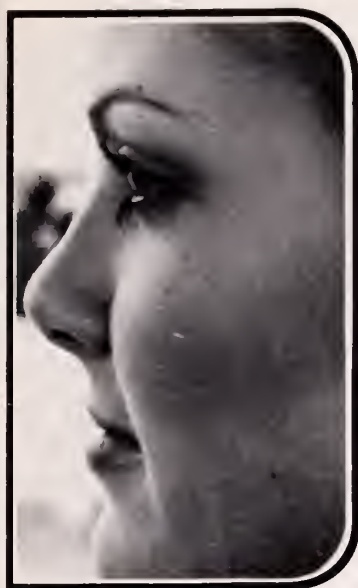

Endsheets: The endsheets are of 65 pound Tawny Torion Cover Weight Stock printed with PMS Ink #462. The Lyceum is shown in Taylor art conversion. The turned-back simulation on the endsheets (and on the division pages) was finalized by George Guerieri.

Print: All text copy is set in News Gothic, exhibiting various point sizes. Headlines are printed in several styles as listed here: Division pages — Bookman Bold Italic with Swash; "Everything" — North Script; '77-78 — A Classic — Palatino Bold; Entertainment — Palatino Bold; Faces and Personalities — Busorama Bold; Athletics — Palatino Bold; Administration — Palatino Bold (except for pages 170 and 171 which are in Amelia); Greeks — Futura Bold; Associations — Palatino Bold; Honors — Palatino Bold; Anything — Palatino Bold; Classes — Serif Gothic Heavy; Ads — Helvetica Medium; Index — Figaro Italienne.

Photography: A 150 line screen was used for photography with color separations done by laser. All color pictures in the Faces and Personalities Section were taken by Walt Mixon of Oxford, Mississippi. However, a few pictures on pages 102 and 103 were taken at the Miss America Pageant and submitted by Joe Savage of Vicksburg, Mississippi, and Hess Studios of Atlantic City, New Jersey. Beauties pictures were made in Florida while all others in the Faces and Personalities Section (except those on pages 102 and 103) were taken in Oxford and University. Classes portraits were done by Stevens Studios of Bangor, Maine, in cooperation with Stephen Ollove and Mrs. Baker. Composite prints of Greek organizations were supplied by the following: Vantine Studios of Hamilton, New York — all fraternities except Sigma Pi; American Composite Corporation of Kansas City, Missouri — all sororities except Delta Delta Delta and Zeta Tau Alpha; Cameo Composite Company of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma — Zeta Tau Alpha; Steve Parham Photography of Oxford, Mississippi — Sigma Pi; William C. Connell Photography of Oxford, Mississippi — Delta Delta Delta.

Budget: The estimated total cost of the 1978 OLE MISS was $73,324 with the estimated cost per book being $10.78. Through student activity fees, each student paid $6.00 for the OLE MISS.

Acknowledgments: Appreciation is expressed to First Artists Music Company, Emanuel Music Corporation, and 20 Century Music Corporation for their permission to reprint the lyrics to "Everything"; to Universal Press Syndicate for their permission to reprint selected segments of DONNESBURY comic strip; and to Delta Delta Delta Sorority for their permission to use the organization's wicker chair for the Hall of Fame pictures.

Editor's Closing

While writing this, I cannot help thinking of previous OLE MISS Editors whose rows of pictures hang on the wall in my second-floor Odom-A office. I wonder if serving as Editor-in-Chief of the OLE MISS meant as much to them as it has meant to me. (Most of them are smiling in their pictures if that means anything.)

I know some of my predecessors personally and have been told stories about others. A few of them even wrote "farewell messages" on their pictures and in their yearbooks. During this past year, I have read the legible ones and have thumbed through countless annuals to read the final thoughts of others. Many of the treatises were, indeed, boring and similar (as you may find this one); but it is quite important for a yearbook editor to express his thoughts in a final, direct manner.

Trying to combine the meaning of four years at the University of Mississippi into a central theme for this yearbook has been difficult. My basic hope is that the OLE MISS staff and I have not merely compiled a recruiting instrument for the University but instead have successfully recorded for posterity the classic occurrences and characteristics of this year. The term classic has a dual meaning, referring to the fact that the year brought something personally memorable and to the fact that 1977-78 brought the return of classically-styled clothes, classically-sized cars, and classically-constructed dances.

I am not going to list the names of those who have helped me most in producing this publication. They are my friends and they know who they are. Without the help of these other nightowls, I would not have been able to meet publication deadlines — especially when those deadlines fell during exams. Also during this past academic year the support and encouragement from my parents have continued, as always, to benefit me greatly. As a result of my tenure as Editor-in-Chief to the OLE MISS, my editing and administrative skills have definitely received exercise. I have learned to be a teacher, administrator, and a guidance counselor. My energy and patience have been taxed; but I have easily adjusted to late nights with little sleep, to the feeling of not quite being prepared for tests, to the smell of "liquid paper" correction fluid, and to the sight of ants crawling all over my desk.

In compiling this yearbook, the staff and I have made countless changes in the standard and style of the OLE MISS Annual. Larger than any other yearbook ever published in Mississippi, the 1978 OLE MISS is printed in a style of copy and covered in a kind of material never before used in or on a Mississippi university yearbook. Adding a satirical section called "Anything" (designed as humor) and increasing the amount of copy and scope of photographic coverage, we have directed this publication to varied interests.

Through serving as Editor-in-Chief of the 1978 OLE MISS, my good fortune has been the opportunity to spend my senior year on the second floor of Odom-A. While I am grateful to the students of the University for having afforded me this privilege and to the evolution of circumstances which placed me in this position, I am also indebted for the many other opportunities presented me during my four years at the University of Mississippi.

And now as the number of keys on my key chain is dwindling, I wish Sally much success in producing the 1979 OLE MISS.

The year 1977-78 brought a sense of nostalgia to the University of Mississippi campus as customs, styles, and events known to our parents returned. Students were exposed to a renewed feeling of eminence enjoyed by Ole Miss students of yesteryear. In addition to the quiet thrills of our private lives, we of the late 1970's were able to experience the confidence of an increased university enrollment, the prestige of a Southeastern Conference championship baseball team, the ecstasy of upsetting a traditional football powerhouse, and the pride of claiming two Ole Miss co-eds as Miss Mississippi and Miss Mississippi Universe. It was comforting to us that the victories perpetually seemed to outweigh the tragedies and mistakes which touched us all. The Lyceum has watched this year with fond memories of happenings paralleling those of yesterday. The memories of this year will be similar to the Lyceum in that they will soon be classic — as will the 1978 OLE MISS.
